Considering Recommendations Made by

U. S. MAY CONSULT WITH FOUR POWERS

Chiang Establishes New Government of His Own and Will Make Nanking
Capital City.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and
The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—Washington officials spent the entire day studying the reply of Eugene Chen, the nationalist foreign minister, and the report of Minister McMurray at Peking without finally determining the nature of the response which will be made by this government. Secretary of State Kellogg returned this morning from his eastern vacation and immediately plunged into a series of conferences with his advisers on the affairs. Later he admitted that the recommendations submitted by Minister McMurray were being studied, but stated that the final policy to be followed in replying to the nationalist note would be determined at Washington. He said it was possible that the matter would be taken up direct with some of the interested powers.

It is expected that the cabinet will spend most of tomorrow's session in discussing the situation caused by the unsatisfactory response made by Chen to the note of the government demanding redress for the attacks on foreigners at Nanking. The decision of this government may be reached tomorrow and called to Minister McMurray.

Fire on American Ship.
Today's dispatches from China disclosed that the American cruiser Cincinnati was fired on twice yesterday by machine guns and either three or four-inch rifles handled by Chinese soldiers on the Yangtze river. In both cases the Chinese fire was returned with machine guns and the Cincinnati's 6-inch battery. The first attack came below Nanking and the second north of Tientsin. There were no casualties on the cruiser.

All foreign property at Luchow Fu, Anhwei, has been looted. Eight American missionaries are being held at Shanghai. The Anderson Meyer company, American exporters, was looted yesterday.

All possible efforts are being made by this government to effect the safe release of Miss Mary Craig, of Philadelphia, the nurse seized by bandits near Yunnan.

CHIANG ESTABLISHES NANKING GOVERNMENT.
Shanghai, April 18.—(AP)—Chiang Kai-shek, generalissimo of the Chinese (nationalist) army, who has declared his intention of driving out the extreme radicals from the Kuomintang (Chinese political organization), is reported to have taken the first determined step by setting up a new government at Nanking, in opposition to that at Hankow, which he charges is controlled by the communists.

Though details of the constitution of the Chiang government are lacking, the report is generally credited, and it is understood that prominent leaders representing Canton, Nanking and Shanghai will have a place in the ministry.

Cantonese Split.
This is the first time the Cantonese government would appear to be split in two, and the hope of unity among the southern opponents of the Peking government to have been dissipated, temporarily at least.

Both factions of the nationalists have been bending every effort to get the support of the various provinces north and south of the Yangtze river, and the adherence of the commanders of the various military units, but, in the meantime, the northern forces, which not long ago were in swift retreat, have had a chance to reform in some measure.

The foreign powers have made certain that they will be prepared for any developments at Hankow, where events of serious import were predicted. Forty or more warships of Great Britain, United States, Japan, France and Italy are stationed at this port, or patrolling, ready for whatever emergency may arise. About this great fleet are 15,000 men who could be landed forthwith.

THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME

It isn't here yet, but we have had several days that cause us to realize that Summer is on its way, and we might as well "begin to prepare to get ready" for it.

We will all need a number of articles for the home and the various members of the family—not forgetting ourselves in the rush. It would be wise to commence making the purchases now, thus spreading them out and not having too many to make all at one time with the consequent larger bills all in one month.

You will discover by reading The Constitution advertisements regularly that the merchants of Atlanta are ready for the early-summer-article purchasers. They'd like you to make some of those purchases right now, so their prices are right.

Reading The Constitution advertisements regularly every morning keeps you right up to date. They are business reminders that you should never neglect.

Indications Seen in Action of Council in Referring Petition to Ordinance Committee.

RUSSELL LEADER
IN COUNCIL MOVE

Council Members Urge Inclusion of Proposal on Primary Ballot as Economy Move.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and
The Chicago Tribune.)

Strong probability that the proposed city manager charter issue for Atlanta will be placed on the ballot of the city democratic primary May 25, was seen Monday following action of the ordinance committee to include the charter proposition on the primary ballot. It was intimated that the committee will accede to the wish of council in the matter.

The request followed closely on the heels of the official sounding of an initiative petition in council which proponents of the new charter claim has the endorsement of 3,517 registered voters. Councilman Horace Russell, chairman of the citizens' charter committee, sponsoring the move, offered the petition at the Monday session.

Councilmen A. J. Orme and Howard C. McCutcheon and Aldermen J. A. Llan Couch and William B. Hartsfield, took the floor in an effort to secure passage of a paper designed to have council go on record as favoring the charter election at the same time as the primary.

Despite the fact that the democratic committee to put the election before the people at the primary election, members stated Monday that they were inclined to change their position in the interest of economy, saying that a special election would cost about $2,500 and that this could be saved if the election was held at the same time the primary.

Primary Date Advocated.
Councilman McCutcheon was the first to advocate the primary election date, declaring that council should not attempt to suppress the will of the people nor should it quibble over possible technicalities.

"All the people who signed the petition will not vote for the new charter," he said. "If signed the petition, but do not intend to vote for the charter as it reads at this time."

Alderman Couch stated that he wanted the people to vote on the issue and settle it "once and for all." He also would oppose the proposed new charter, he said.

Mr. Russell offered a paper asking that a special election be held May 15 and requesting that council set aside a fund of $2,500 for that purpose. This was referred to the ordinance committee, headed by Councilman Ellis Barrett, of the fifth ward, and on which are Alderman Hartsfield, one of the principal opponents of the proposed new government for Atlanta, and Councilman Russell, champion of the new charter proposal.

Settlement Seen.
These two are expected to reach an "amicable settlement" of differences concerning the election date, and it was predicted freely that Mr. Russell will cooperate with Mr. Barrett in obtaining consent of the democratic committee to hold the charter election at the same time the primary is held—May 25.

A tacit agreement seemed to exist Monday to the effect that if pro-charter forces would withdraw the petition submitted to council in itself, the democratic committee would place the issue before citizens in the primary election, anti-charter forces would assist in putting the paper before the public at that time.

Several questions intended to show that certain changes in the charter had been made since the initiative petition was offered were directed at Mr. Russell, but a majority of members took the position that even great fleets are 15,000 men who could be landed forthwith.

SMITH'S ANSWER
BRINGS CRITICISM AND WARM PRAISE

Many Privately Pay
Tribute to New York
Governor's Courage on Frank Comment.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, April 18.—(United Press.)—Political leaders in both parts of the United States have hailed Governor Al Smith's statement on the church and the state as a document of first importance in American political history.

Comment was both favorable and otherwise. Also there were many politicians who privately paid tribute to Smith's courage but refused to emulate it by commenting in print, on the delicate questions raised.

The principal criticism came from southern democrats. Senator Heflin, of Alabama, a democrat who has been attacking the Catholic church for his attitude toward the Mexican religious controversy, and Representative McClintock, of Oklahoma.

"The New York governor's statement is evasive and unconvincing," Heflin said. "It is in some of the essential questions raised by Mr. Marshall in direct contradiction to the teachings of many of the popes and priests of the Roman Catholic church. It was intended of course to make a favorable impression for Governor Smith on non-Catholic American citizens."

McClintock said: "Every good American believes that the church and state should be forever kept separate. I am wondering, however, how this statement of Al Smith's can be squared with the action of the Knights of Columbus in raising a large fund to be used in opposing the separation of the church and state in Mexico."

Daring Defense Is Laid

Widow of Queens Village.

BY SAM LOVE.

New York, April 18.—(United Press.)—Without one jurymen selected and with probable demands for a change of venue in the offing, the first day of the Snyder-Gray murder trial revealed an opinionated community and a daring defense which has been planned for the blonde widow of Queens village.

Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder and Henry Judd Gray are charged jointly with the first degree murder of her husband, Albert Snyder, art editor of Motor Boating, last March 20.

Apparently none is so poor intellectually not to have a pronounced opinion on the killing of a deceived husband while he sleeps in his bed.

Only eight of the 120 peremptory challenges were used in disposing of the first 48 prospective jurors. Eleven of them had scruples about death penalties for men, women or both. The rest were opinionated.

Through the questions hurled at the talesmen by her attorney, Edgar Hagleton, the motion Mrs. Snyder will go through to escape the electric chair became apparent.

Mrs. Snyder, unless her campaign is changed, will not take the witness stand.

Her attorneys plan to go ahead and let the state fix the guilt as firmly as it can upon Gray. Mrs. Snyder is not interested in what happens to her former lover, the awkward owl-eyed counsel salesman. Her attorneys may succeed in having her confession ruled

LATIMER WIDENS
NEUTRAL ZONE;
BATTLE IMPENDS

U. S. Admiral Puts Inland Nicaraguan City of Matagalpa in For-bidden Area.

Managua, April 18.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Julian Latimer, commander of the American naval forces in Nicaragua, today ordered the inland city of Matagalpa made a neutral zone.

Fighting within 2,000 yards of the boundary of the zone and the presence of armed troops within the area are forbidden.

Admiral Latimer's action was the result of the threat of fighting in Matagalpa, the liberals having prepared to attack the city and the conservatives having concentrated in the city outside the city to meet the attack. The liberal force in the vicinity of Matagalpa is believed to be a detachment under General Sandoval which escaped the conservative encircling movement of recent weeks.

A detachment of 325 marines will remain in Matagalpa where about 100 Americans and 100 other foreigners reside. Ninety marines are stationed at Ciudad Dario near by. Fighting has been reported north of Dario with the conservatives claiming the advantage.

Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of war, who arrived here yesterday on a mission from President Coolidge to study the true state of affairs in Nicaragua, conferred today with President Adolfo Diaz, the conservative executive, but did not make public the purpose of his visit or the result.

Mr. Stimson, who arrived in Corinto yesterday morning on the cruiser Trenton, told a correspondent that he planned to study the entire situation from an impartial standpoint and to listen to expressions and suggestions from any and all persons. Whether members of the liberal or conservative factions.

If Dr. Juan Sacasa, the liberal chief liberal commander, desired to communicate or visit him, Mr. Stimson said that he was ready to receive them but that he was not suggesting such a step.

Three Women

Legal Tangle

But One Gets $1,775 Damages; Others Told Their Rights.

Three women and a house comprised the "contention" in Fulton superior court before Judge E. D. Thomas Monday when damages of $1,775 were awarded to Mrs. R. L. Sikes, plaintiff, and Mrs. June H. Courtney, defendant, was ordered to return by the lot on Peachtree road.

Through Attorney E. Smythe Gambrell, Mrs. Sikes presented evidence to show that in 1915 she purchased the Peachtree road lot from Mrs. Courtney and her husband built a modern residence upon it, only to discover later that her deed was for lot No. 8, whereas the house was built on lot No. 7. Stated by an outside party, Mrs. Mary A. Walton.

Previous to the suit terminated Monday, Mrs. Walton, real owner of the lot upon which the house stands, filed suit against Mrs. Sikes in De Kalb court. A jury fixed the value of the lot at $6,500 and the value of the house at $8,500.

The law provides that the owner of the lot has the option of purchasing the house that was erected upon her property through no action of her own. In the lobby of the theater the jury. In this case it is $8,500. In the event that Mrs. Walton does not care to pay that figure for the house, Mrs. Sikes then has the opportunity of purchasing the lot for $6,500. If neither acts, the property may be sold and the proceeds divided in ratio fixed by the jury.

As it stands, Mrs. Sikes will receive the $1,775 damages, the $5,500 which she paid for the lot—and the second option to buy the lot belonging to Mrs. Walton. The latter can pay $8,500 and keep the house. Mrs. Courtney is to contribute $1,775 damages, refund the $8,500 she received for the lot and—

PADLOCKED CASES
GUARD DISPATCHES OF UNITED STATES

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Washington, April 18.—In an effort to forestall all possible chances of leaks, messengers at the state department recently have been equipped with padlocked cases for carrying official confidential documents.

Following the theft of official documents from the American embassy at Mexico City, several months ago, extra precautions were inaugurated throughout the entire diplomatic service. The use of padlocks on the cases carried by the messengers was first noticed a few days ago.

Mrs. Coolidge Helps Tots
MOTHERS MANY LITTLE ONES TEMPORARILY LOST
Have Happy Egg Rolling

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—Playing hostess to Washington children at the annual egg rolling festival on the white house grounds, gave Mrs. Coolidge a busy but happy day.

Twice today she walked through the grounds, mingling with the throng of youngsters who crowded about her and finally she mothered more than a dozen lost tots who wept big tears under the care of a policeman in one corner of the grounds.

Learning of the disaster which had befallen some of the little ones, Mrs. Coolidge went to the place for lost children. While police held the crowd many she picked them up one by one and before long each had been returned to a grateful and often times crying mother.

The comforting which Mrs. Coolidge gave the lost youngsters helped in some instances but several frightened ones continued to cry even after she took them in her arms. Close of day found Mrs. Coolidge almost as weary as most of the children.

On both trips through the grounds, Mrs. Coolidge was almost mobbed by the eager children and mothers. On her morning visit she took along Rebecca, pet raccoon which lives at the white house. She was forced to carry Rebecca, who squirmed about restlessly as camera men blocked the way in front and children milled around on all sides. Finally Rebecca buried her head under Mrs. Coolidge's arm.

The president waved a greeting to the children at noon from the balcony of the white house overlooking the grounds.

Police estimated that almost 40,000 persons, most of them children, again passed into the grounds, equalling last year's record. Thousands of other youngsters rolled Easter eggs and frolicked on grassy slopes near Washington monument and the capitol and at the zoo.

SOLDIER LOSES LIFE IN CREEK

Was Member of Detachment En Route From Fort McPherson to Camp McClelland.

Arthur C. Phillips, 29, of Macon, private in the machine gun company D, twenty-second infantry, of Fort McPherson, was drowned at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon in Sweetwater creek at Lithia Springs, near Austell, when he toppled over into deep water while washing his clothes, according to information reaching Fort McPherson.

Unable To Revive.
Soldiers nearby witnessed the accident and immediately went to the aid of their comrade but were unable to recover the body before 10 minutes had passed. A prolonged effort to resuscitate the victim was unsuccessful.

The company was en route to Camp McClelland, Ala., for machine gun practice and had encamped at Lithia Springs for the first night halt. It left Fort McPherson early Monday morning on the march over the country and arrived at Lithia Springs at 11:30 o'clock. The mishap came early in the afternoon while Private Phillips was washing his clothes after the hike in the deep creek, just behind the springs.

Phillips is said to have been an expert swimmer and authorities were unable to account for the drowning other than that it was accidental and may have resulted from a heart attack or loss of balance on the part of Phillips while stooping over the embankment.

World War Veteran.
Authorities at Fort McPherson Monday night stated that an inquiry would be conducted into the circumstances surrounding the death of Phillips, which was described by them as accidental.

Phillips fought in the world war and prior to coming to Fort McPherson was at Fort Benning, Columbus. His mother, Mrs. James Phillips, lives at 204 Napier street, Macon. She was apprised of her son's death Monday afternoon by authorities.

The body of the victim was brought to Atlanta by Captain A. B. Bolling.

Woman Is Killed When Cat
NEWARK'S BUSINESS SECTION IN PANIC
Stampedes Three Elephants

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Newark, N. J., April 18.—Frightened by an alley cat, three vaudeville elephants ran amuck at Market and Washington streets, Newark, this afternoon, trampled a woman to death, injured a man and threw the business section of the city into a panic.

The streets were teeming with women shoppers at the time. The elephants, owned by Trisxie and Cutie, who were trumpeting with fear. The three trainers kept tight hold of the chains by which the beasts were hobbled and were dragged across Market street and north into Washington street, before they got the animals under control. Then they led their timid charges back to the alley.

At the same spot where Maud had seen the cat she again turned and bolted. A crowd had assembled at the mouth of the alley, and through this crowd Maud tore with Darraugh hanging on to her, followed by the other two pachyderms.

Fleeing hundreds saw Trisxie knock down and trample the woman, stepping on her chest and head and crushing both. Cutie bowed over Henry Manhoff, 33, but he was only slightly hurt.

Mississippi and Tributaries Pounded Through Levees; Twister Tears Through Oklahoma.

3 EARTHQUAKES
REPORTED FELT

Advices Indicate Torrents
Will Reach Crest Wednesday; Militiamen Called.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

The ominous rise of the Mississippi and its tributaries surged Monday night in a steadily increasing threat to the great delta valley as its inhabitants fought valiantly to stem the relentless overflow which already has wrought immeasurable havoc in parts of seven states.

With at least a dozen persons believed dead, thousands homeless, and damage to the fertile land, crops, livestock and homes mounting into millions, the river states found little encouragement in a forecast of more rain in the upper reaches of the Mississippi, promising additional heights to record crests lashing at the levees all along the stream.

Hourly reports told of the pressure of boiling currents, sending swirling overflows into thousands of acres of bottom lands while relieving the strain at other points.

Prevents Sabotage.
As volunteer and conscript worked side by side to stave off the eighty tides, national guardsmen and private watchmen patrolled the levees in many localities to prevent sabotage by residents seeking to protect their sides of streams at the expense of the others.

Summed up developments during the past 24 hours showed the flood situation as follows:

Levees broken at a score or more points along White, Arkansas and St. Francis rivers in Arkansas, where greatest distress and most extensive ruin noted. Fort Smith water supply cut off and shortage feared. Hundreds of homes entered by flood waters in North Little Rock. Towns of England, Altheimer, Keok and Knowlton threatened.

Many have taken refuge on the levee tops, the only dry spot in sight for miles in numerous areas.

25,000 Lost Homes.
Refuge camps crowded in Arkansas, Missouri, Mississippi and Kentucky. Red Cross estimates at least 25,000 driven from their homes by flood waters.

Yazoo delta threatened as Mississippi breaks at tops of levees along front of several hundred miles in Mississippi.

Breaks in levees between St. Louis and Cairo, Ill., checked rising Mississippi.

Still higher stages predicted by Memphis and weather bureau as up the river floodwaters move southward. Washington forecast more rains in parts of Oklahoma and Arkansas. Levees above New Orleans reported in good condition by federal engineers.

SOUTHERN PLANS BIG ROME PLANT

Constitution Bureau.

Rome, April 18.—Construction immediately by the Southern railway system of a water station, coal chute, shop, boiler house, cinder conveyor and other plants near Atlanta junction on 50 acres of ground opposite the old Rome furnace is planned and during this year the railroad will spend approximately $125,000 in these improvements, it is learned here.

While the main immediate object of these improvements is to avoid congestion at the station in East Rome it is understood that the work is only the first step in a much larger program of development contemplated by the railroad at this point.

All of these improvements will be of the most modern type and the construction will be started immediately. The work will be completed by January 1. All coaling, taking up of water and similar operations will be done at this point as soon as the construction work is completed and stops will then be made at the East Rome depot only for passengers and baggage. No freight trains will stop.

Hotel McAlpin Broadway at 34th St. New York City

OFFICE OF
MANAGING DIRECTOR

I have tried mighty hard to write convincingly about the comforts, convenience and perfect service of the Hotel McAlpin. Naturally, several outstanding truths have been featured in my messages.

"The Centre of Convenience" indicates the location of the McAlpin—in the very heart of New York.

The fact that the McAlpin is constantly patronized to capacity by native New Yorkers as well as visitors verifies the statement that the McAlpin really is "New York's most popular Hotel."

But for a simple, sincere appeal to thoughtful visitors, I can think of no greater truth—no more complete and convincing description than "there's no place like home—except the McAlpin"—and, by the way, a guest suggested it.

Sincerely,

Arthur R. Lee,

S. S. Dean Dies.

Sidney S. Dean, well known Roman, died Saturday night in the United States veterans' hospital in Augusta. He left Rome nearly three weeks ago and went to Augusta for treatment for a nervous breakdown.

Mr. Dean was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Dean. He graduated at the University of Georgia in 1902. After leaving college he returned to Rome, and was connected with the new 100,000-gallon tank, which will be filled by two centrifugal pumps.

Mr. Dean was a member of the Baptist church, a Knight Templar, a noble of the Mystic Shrine and a charter member of the Country Club. For a number of years he was principal of the Rome High schools and for five years was connected with the internal revenue department at Washington, D. C.

Besides his parents he is survived by one brother and five sisters. Funeral services will be held here Tuesday.

CIVIC LEAGUE HEARS DEBATE

On the heels of action by city council Monday afternoon looking toward setting the election for the proposed new form of government for Atlanta on the primary ballot, proponents and opponents of the change Monday night launched a vigorous campaign in behalf of their respective stances.

Councilman Horace Russell, of the ninth ward, chairman of the citizens' charter committee, sponsoring the proposed new form of city government, and Alderman William B. Hartsfield, took the stump in a joint debate on the subject at a meeting of the Capitol View Civic league. Following heated arguments, the club voted unanimously against the proposed change and to support the present charter at the polls. John C. Mackey, president, presided.

Pointing to what he termed provisions of the new charter which would effect savings in operation of the government and at the same time make administration of the city's affairs more efficient, Mr. Russell made a bid for support of the league in the opening speech.

He declared that the present governmental system for the city is antiquated and is inflexible, failing to bend to the will of the people, and stated that the new form of government would reduce governmental costs and increase efficiency, while overlapping of departments would be reduced to a minimum.

Tax Raise Cited.
Mr. Hartsfield retorted by citing provisions of the proposed new charter which would permit a raise in the city taxes by favorable vote of a majority of "these voting in the election."

"This does not even give a tax increase the same protection that the present charter does," he declared. "Provisions of the present charter are to the effect that no bond issue can be floated in Atlanta without a majority of the registered voters casting ballots in favor of the issue. Under the new charter, our taxes could be raised without half the people of the city knowing what it is all about. They would just slip it in. A total of 300 persons voting in such an election could raise the taxes of 300,000."

Favors School Body.
Mr. Russell answered by saying that council at present has the right to sell school property, and declared that he would prefer placing in an educational body, elected especially to administer school needs, the right to dispose of school property than in the council, a political body.

To this Mr. Hartsfield replied that it would be unnecessary to float bond issues, but that the city would lobby through an election a tax increase, holding some fanciful emergency over the heads of citizens. He also cited the fact that the new Piedmont hotel, another at Moxley park, the Smith Junior High school and other public improvements have been done out of current city revenue in the past several months.

H. K. SLIGH TRIAL POSTPONED AT OCILLA

Ocilla, Ga., April 18.—(Special.)—The case of Harry K. Sligh, indicted on a charge of arson in superior court last week, has been continued, it was announced here today by Solicitor R. S. Foy. The case will probably not be tried until the November term of court, it was stated.

Sligh is out on bond after having been arrested recently in California and charged with having burned his home near here last fall and then disappearing. A carcase declared by a coroner's jury to be that of Sligh found in the fire was interred near Seneca, South Carolina.

It was stated here today that the state was not ready for trial, and that it was desired to bring a witness here in the case from California where Sligh was arrested.

A jury has been empaneled and evidence is being introduced in the case of the state against H. H. Bushin, indicted for the murder of Jehu Fletcher about six weeks ago.

There are a number of criminal cases to be disposed of this week, including four murder cases and it is thought that the greater part of this week will be taken up by the court in disposing of these cases.

Albion, N. Y., April 17.—(P)—Thomas Lee Dalton, 85, credited with being the last surviving member of the Union army detachment that captured Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, died today at his home here.

Born in Lashlip, Ireland, Dalton came to this country with his parents when he was three years old. He enlisted December 4, 1863, in company I, Fourth Michigan cavalry, and served in many engagements until discharged August 15, 1865. He was the last survivor of the Michigan regiment.

Word Persists That Kellogg Will Quit Place

BY SAM W. SMALL.

(From The Constitution's Bureau.)
Washington, April 18.—(Special.)—In the subway of the capital there is a definite belief that Secretary of State Kellogg has informed President Coolidge and desires to resign his portfolio; not at once, but later when an agreeable occasion arises. Neither the president nor the secretary thinks the separation should take place until our foreign relations reach a satisfactory condition.

Both of them have been nettled by the criticism poured upon their actions. The Mexican and Nicaraguan embassies and both are determined to bring themselves out of those situations "with peace and honor." Persons who are familiar with what is going on "under cover" in the state department predict that very soon Coolidge and Kellogg will have agreed upon an amicable adjustment of the questions now depending between the two nations, and that the people of this country will approve the pacific accord.

It is also affirmed that the Nicaraguan problem is being solved; that the "revolution" is petering out; that such terms will be granted to the "liberals" as to end their belligerency, and that American forces will be withdrawn, except a small garrison guard.

Only the situation in China will be urgent and any issue arising out of it can be dealt with by the president and some other secretary of state. It is hoped that the United States supreme court four years ago. Chief Justice Taft's opinion said that Congress had intended to impose upon the president the duty of determining the scope and propriety of the federal trade commission's orders, leaving to him the discretion of determining which should be pressed in the courts.

Justice McReynolds in his dissent contended that the decision of the lower courts should be affirmed, on the ground that the commission had exceeded its authority.

TANAKA TO HEAD CABINET OF JAPAN

Tokio, April 18.—(P)—Baron Tanaka, head of the Seiyukai party, has accepted the post of premier to succeed Premier Wakasugi, resigned.

Baron Tanaka served as minister of war in the Hara, Takahashi and Yamamoto cabinets. He was born in 1863, the third son of a humble samurai of the feudal Lord Mori. The feudal system was abolished not long after Giuchi Tanaka was born. After receiving a meager education in a private school, he entered the military school and eventually rose to the rank of lieutenant general and member of the general staff. He has been leader of the seiyukai since 1925. The seiyukai was created by the late Prince Ito in 1900.

FRIGHTENED FELINE KILLED BY POLICE

Piteous meowing of a homeless cat that had been chased into a tree in the rear of 836 Myrtle street about a week ago by a pugacious dog, were silenced Monday morning by Call Officers J. D. Wood and W. A. Goode, who were summoned upon complaints of residents in the neighborhood, according to police records, to shoot the feline.

Plans are to widen the street from the present 32 feet to 40 feet, four feet on each side, thus furnishing an easier flow of traffic in the congested area of Capitol avenue.

Members of the second world delegation, headed by Dr. J. E. Turner, have sponsored the project the entire year and at last have succeeded in passing through council a plan looking towards early completion of the proposal.

WIDENING OF CAPITOL AVENUE BEGINS SOON

Work will be begun immediately on widening of Capitol avenue between Mitchell street and Georgia avenue, if Mayor I. N. Ragsdale approves a measure passed Monday by city council authorizing appropriation of $7,000 as the city's part of the project.

Fulton county has set aside a fund of $7,000 to purchase material, the Georgia Power company will pave its track right-of-ways and the fund from the city will be used for labor. The street will be repaved as far as street funds of the second ward, in which the improvement will lie, will permit, it was announced.

Word Persists That Kellogg Will Quit Place

Washington, April 18.—(Special.)—In the subway of the capital there is a definite belief that Secretary of State Kellogg has informed President Coolidge and desires to resign his portfolio; not at once, but later when an agreeable occasion arises. Neither the president nor the secretary thinks the separation should take place until our foreign relations reach a satisfactory condition.

Both of them have been nettled by the criticism poured upon their actions. The Mexican and Nicaraguan embassies and both are determined to bring themselves out of those situations "with peace and honor." Persons who are familiar with what is going on "under cover" in the state department predict that very soon Coolidge and Kellogg will have agreed upon an amicable adjustment of the questions now depending between the two nations, and that the people of this country will approve the pacific accord.

It is also affirmed that the Nicaraguan problem is being solved; that the "revolution" is petering out; that such terms will be granted to the "liberals" as to end their belligerency, and that American forces will be withdrawn, except a small garrison guard.

U. S. TRADE BODY WINS DECISION

Washington, April 18.—(P)—Seven years' litigation in which the inquisitorial powers of the federal trade commission were challenged went to the discard today when the supreme court dismissed the injunction proceedings brought by the Claire Furnace company and 21 other corporations in Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, New York, Delaware, New Jersey and Maryland.

In an opinion by Chief Justice Taft the court held that the companies involved had no right to fear the orders of the commission, which had sought monthly reports concerning details of their business, until the attorney general had taken some action against them in the courts. Justice McReynolds dissented.

The litigation, resulting from the commission's effort to obtain information to aid congress in shaping legislation designed to reduce living costs, was instituted in 1920 in the District of Columbia supreme court, which enjoined the commission from proceeding with its program.

The companies had contended that the commission had exceeded its authority, and insisted they could not be compelled to furnish information, much of it, they held, relating to trade secrets.

On appeal by the government, the court of appeals held the injunction good, and the case reached the United States supreme court four years ago. Chief Justice Taft's opinion said that Congress had intended to impose upon the president the duty of determining the scope and propriety of the federal trade commission's orders, leaving to him the discretion of determining which should be pressed in the courts.

Justice McReynolds in his dissent contended that the decision of the lower courts should be affirmed, on the ground that the commission had exceeded its authority.

122d Infantry To March In Memorial Day Parade

Atlanta national guardsmen will join the annual parade and ceremonies in connection with the observance of Memorial day on Tuesday, April 26, according to Adjutant General Charles H. Cox. Definite plans for participation of the 122d regiment were laid Monday night at the regular drill period of that organization at the auditorium-armory.

Present plans call for formation of the regiment at 1:30 o'clock at the armory, from which the regiment will proceed to the general assembly point, at Peachtree and Baker, and be in line at 2 o'clock.

Following the march down Peachtree and Whitehall streets to Oakland cemetery where select groups will aid in ceremonies there, a big barbecue will be staged in the big adjacent to the armory, for officers and men of the regiment.

Atlantians have not seen the regiment in formation since its return last August from encampment, and with packs and full equipment, headed by its big regimental band, the outfit is expected to be the center of much interest.

GAS TAX JUMPS $250,000 IN YEAR

Georgia will receive in excess of $1,400,000 in gasoline tax for the first quarter of 1922, a gain of $250,000 over collections of the corresponding period last year, State Auditor Sam J. Slate announced Monday.

More than $1,000,000 of the tax fund will be turned over to the state highway department, while the remainder will be distributed among counties for construction of county roads. This is the largest distribution of gasoline tax ever made in any quarter to the highway department, Mr. Slate said, being approximately 20 per cent in excess of the payment made at this time last year.

Gasoline tax collected to date, the auditor said, amounts to $1,371,000 and with ten or twelve delinquent companies yet to report, the fund for the quarter will be swelled to at least $1,400,000. The first quarter's collection last year was $1,153,000.

The first quarter is usually the lightest in the year for gasoline consumption in Georgia, the state auditor said. Should the succeeding quarters continue to net the state the corresponding increase as that of the first, the gasoline tax this year will reach the $5,000,000 mark, it is expected.

GRiffin MAN HEADS EXCHANGE CLUBS

Augusta, Ga., April 18.—(P)—Savannah was selected this afternoon for the third annual convention of the affiliated Exchange clubs of Georgia, to be held April 1922, and William H. Beck, of Griffin, was elected president of the affiliation to succeed Sid R. Phillips, of Macon, whose term expired this afternoon. Other officers were elected as follows:

William M. Lester, Augusta, first vice president; John Kennedy, Savannah, second vice president; L. S. Gilbert, Atlanta, secretary; C. R. Vansant, Macon, treasurer; H. Cliff Hatcher, Waynesboro, marshal, and W. R. Turner, Milton, sentry. Savannah, which had the largest delegation here, was awarded the attendance cup at this afternoon's session.

Savannah's invitation for the convention was made by Exchange John Kennedy, backed by a large number from this city, and other invitations were withdrawn in favor of the port city delegation. Fred Houser, of Atlanta, speaking for the Atlanta Exchange club, stated that he was relinquishing his invitation for 1923 in order to "clinch" the convention for 1922.

The convention closed tonight with a grand ball at the Bon Air-Vanderbilt hotel when the new officers were installed.

Washington Boy Wins Oratorical Honor at Athens

Athens, Ga., April 18.—(Special.)—Charles W. Fortson, of the Washington, Ga. High school, will represent the eighth district in the national oratorical contest in the state finals to be held in Atlanta on April 30, having won that honor here tonight at the district contest held in Mell auditorium of the Athens High school. His subject was "The Constitution."

The contest in Georgia is sponsored by The Atlanta Constitution. Those winning second and third places, respectively, were Miss L. Mae Seymour, of the Bowman High school, whose subject was "My State's part in the Making of the Constitution," and Miss Margie Louise Kild, of the Crawford High school, whose subject was "The Constitution of the United States." Besides those winning first, second and third places, others who contested were Miss Bessie Auld, of Ellerton, whose subject was "America's Contribution to Constitutional Government," Miss Laura Jarman Spivey, of Eatonton, whose subject was "The Constitution," and Miss Ernest Baker, of Hartwell, whose subject was "The Constitution."

The judges were Dr. E. B. Pusey and Dr. E. M. Coulter, of the University of Georgia, and Dr. Peter F. Brown, of the State Normal college.

A large audience attended. Several musical selections were rendered by the Athens High school orchestra. Professor P. K. Adams, of Royston, president of the eighth district association, presided.

Dr. Joseph S. Stewart, of Athens, is director of the contest in Georgia. Fortson will compete with winners in the other eleven districts of the state, in Atlanta on April 30, when a state winner will be selected. The state winner will compete in the zone contest at Birmingham on May 6, and the national finals will be held in Washington on May 27.

Winners in the contests in each state in the union will be given a six weeks' trip abroad this fall with all expenses paid.

FACTS

about used car allowances

Most new car sales now involve the trading-in of a buyer's used car. More and more people are asking: "Why should my used car seem to have several values?.... Why should dealers in different makes of cars offer me allowances differing materially?.... Does the largest allowance offered mean the best deal for me?"

Here are basic facts:

- 1 Your used car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.
- 2 Your used car has only one fundamental basis of value: what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.
- 3 The largest trade-in allowance which is offered on your used car is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; but sometimes it is not.
- 4 An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.
- 5 Judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowance offered on your used car.

When you are ready to trade-in your present car, remember that after all you are making a purchase and not a sale. You are buying a new car and simply applying your present car as a credit toward the purchase price of the new car.

Mother Watts, "Jail Angel," Indorses Atlanta Prisons

BY BEN COOPER.

Her vigor "schoolgirl complexion" and "sit up and go to bed" habits, Mrs. William B. "Mother" Watts, of Boston, Mass., Monday closed a week's visit to Atlanta to study local penal institutions, and left for her home.

Mrs. Watts had plenty to say about Atlanta's criminal institutions before catching her train, but her criticism was favorable, particularly with regard to the Atlanta federal penitentiary, which she classed as the "foremost, cleanest and most up-to-date prison in the country today."

In speaking of Fulton tower, "Mother" Watts highly complimented the cleanliness of the county jail and a preacher nor a social worker, but is motivated simply by a desire to do something to help others along, which she does in her own way and in her own time.

Many are the unfortunate inmates of prisons who bless "Mother" Watts and her prison work, for she has brought light into dark places and made confinement comparatively easy. Her interest was aroused in prison work through her husband, the late Detective William B. Watts, who was head of the bureau of criminal investigation of Boston for 28 years, and who established his own agency in can be enhanced by dazzling white teeth, and pretty gums, this new way

You can now remove the DINGY FILM that clouds your teeth and imperils healthy gums... accept this dental test.

STUDY attractive people, men or women. Note the tremendous part gleaming, clear teeth play. Off-color teeth are an injustice to one's smile. Don't permit them to mar yours.

And don't believe your teeth are naturally dull and colorless. You can disprove that. Can work a transformation in your mouth. Millions are doing it today.

Modern science has found a new way in tooth and gum care. A way different from any you have ever known. Just send the coupon for a 10-day test.

Remove that film—see what a great difference comes

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film, a viscous coat that covers them.

That film is an enemy to your teeth—and your gums. You must remove it.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs discolora-

New methods remove it
And Firm the Gums

Now, in a new-type dentifrice called Pepsodent, dental science has provided effective combatants. Their action is to curdle the film and remove it, then to firm the gums.

Now what you see when that film is removed—the whiteness of your teeth—will amaze you.

Ordinary methods fail in these results.

Thus the world has turned, largely on dental advice, to this new method.

There is no "criminal type" and that crime is not a "disease." The remedy for crime will come in the penitentiary of the future, where criminals are to be graded, and where there will be no possibility for the first offender to learn from those steeped in crime, she said.

Sacco and Vanzetti, who are under sentence of death in Massachusetts, on charges of murder, are not guilty, "Mother" Watts believes. Her husband was interested in the case, and also believed the pair to be innocent, she said.

"These two men, whose cases started six years ago, were convicted on circumstantial evidence. Trouble will follow their execution—serious trouble. They should be given life imprisonment," she said.

Concert Tonight
By Volpi Pupils
At Wesley Church

Advanced pupils of the Volpi school will be presented tonight at 8:15 o'clock in a musical concert in the auditorium of Wesley Memorial church, under auspices of Signor Emilio Volpi, grand opera coach and teacher of voice.

Advanced classes in the Volpi school give these free concerts at regular intervals during the year and programs in the past have proved exceedingly popular with music lovers of the city.

Soloists will appear in heavy and light roles, arias and semi-classical selections, while duets, trios, quartets and sextet selections will be included on the program tonight.

Signor Volpi, following his usual custom, will preside at the piano.

BRIEFS ARE FILED
BY BOTH SIDES
IN FORD TAX SUIT

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—Another step in the government's effort to collect $300,000,000 in additional taxes on former Ford minority stockholders was reached today when voluminous briefs and arguments were filed with the board of tax appeals by the government and by Senator Coughlin, the Dodge heirs and others who sold out to Henry Ford in 1919.

Filing of briefs is preliminary to oral argument of the case which arises out of the government's reassessment downward of Ford stock as of March 1, 1913, as against the evaluation of $9,480, pronounced by the bureau of internal revenue when the transfer of the stock to Mr. Ford took place.

The third district is composed of lodges from Atlanta, Decatur, Barnesville, East Point, Griffin, Jackson, Macon, Newnan, West Point and Zebulon.

BILLIARD LICENSE
TAX HELD VALID

License tax fees fixed in the general tax act of 1925 assessing licenses on billiard and pool tables held valid, according to a decision handed down by the supreme court Monday. The decision was rendered in the case of C. P. Beatty and others against S. Richardson, Fulton county tax collector.

An injunction restrained the tax collector from collecting the licenses and also from requiring billiard hall operators to furnish $500 bond but the tax collector demurred and his demurrer was sustained by the Fulton superior court.

The supreme court upheld the ruling of the lower court. It was held that the operation of a billiard parlor was a business subject to regulation by the police authority and that the $500 bond was thus valid.

MONTEZUMA CLUB
WELCOMES CITIZENS

Montezuma, Ga., April 18.—(Special.)—"New-comers' day" was celebrated at the last of a series of luncheon at the Kiwanis club, when 40 business men who have moved to Montezuma during recent years were entertained by the club. The occasion was in the nature of a get-together meeting and was marked by enthusiasm and good fellowship. An invitation was extended to the visitors to join the club and many members expressed appreciation for the services rendered to the community by the new people and new business interests which have located here. Delegates elected to represent the club at the district meeting of Kiwanis in Macon April 29 were A. C. Richardson and Jule Wimberly Felton.

Invitation Accepted.
City council Monday accepted an invitation from the Home for Old Ladies to attend a luncheon to be given at the institution, April 22. All members of the city governing body voted to attend the affair.

GAS CONCLAVE OPENS TODAY; 300 EXPECTED

With the largest attendance in the history of the association, the nineteenth annual convention of the Southern Gas association will open the first of a three-day session Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock in the Biltmore.

Practically every train Monday brought additional delegates and visitors to the city for the meeting, and indications were that more than 300 would answer the initial roll call.

Many matters of importance are scheduled for consideration before the convention closes Thursday at noon.

A. E. Merchant, of New Orleans, president, will call the meeting to order and will feature the opening session with his annual report. He will set out that during the past year the consumption of gas increased 29 billion cubic feet over 1925, and that the outlook for a still greater increase during 1927 is particularly bright.

Rev. N. R. High Moor, of St. Luke's Episcopal church will deliver the invocation, after which Mayor I. N. Ragsdale will welcome the delegates to Atlanta. Miss Julia Pallett, chairman of the woman's public relations information committee, of New Orleans, will deliver one of the principal addresses of the morning.

After the morning business session, the delegates will adjourn for a motor trip to Stone Mountain to see the progress made in carving the Stone Mountain Confederate memorial.

Business sessions will be held Wednesday and Thursday mornings, and entertainment features have been arranged for each afternoon and evening.

Life guard overcomes effects of damp and cold

A beach patrolman at Atlantic City has found a way to avoid the muscle-lameness that results from standing around all day in a wet bathing suit.

"Just pat on a few drops of Sloan's Liniment. Don't rub. It's the liniment—not the rubbing—that helps. You'll get relief right away. I've tried all sorts of other things, but nothing gets results like Sloan's."

Letters like this from hundreds of users of Sloan's tell of the wonderful relief that Sloan's gives to every kind of muscular pain.

Sloan's gives real and lasting help because it doesn't just deaden pain, it gets at the cause. Right to the place that hurts it brings a healing stream of fresh, new blood. Quickly and surely it carries off the "fatigue-poisons," takes out stiffness and drives away the aches and pains.

at the start

Neglect of even the slightest skin rash, roughness, or chafing may have serious consequences. Painful, disfiguring complaints like eczema, stubborn sores, etc., all start in a small way.

The safest plan is to keep a jar of Resinol Ointment ready to use at the first sign of skin trouble. It promptly stops itching and reduces inflammation and burning. The tiny pores readily receive this soothing ointment, and its healing influence is carried far below the surface of the skin.

GOVERNOR TO CEASE CLEMENCY HEARINGS

Governor Clifford Walker announced Monday no further hearings for executive clemency will be held during the remainder of his administration unless in case of grave emergency.

He said he wished to devote most of his time to giving people of Georgia the benefit of his observations and conclusions regarding governmental problems which he had reached following his four years as chief executive.

NEW BUSINESS CLUB OFFICERS TO PRESIDE

Members of the American Business club will hold their weekly luncheon at the Henry Grady hotel at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The meeting will be the first at which the newly elected officers preside. These are John H. Woods, president; G. M. Phillips, first vice president; Oney T. Voyles, second vice president; Steve Johnson, secretary and treasurer; Benjamin L. Stovall, sergeant-at-arms, and the Rev. V. L. Bray, chaplain.

Was the first to initiate a movement of intensive cooperation between life insurance representatives and trust companies. This movement was inaugurated March 2, at a dinner given by the Citizens and Southern bank at the Biltmore hotel.

Mr. Robinson formerly served on the executive committee of the trust company division of the American Bankers association, and is still serving on a special committee on life insurance trusts. He also is on the executive committee of the savings bank division, and several other subcommittees of the American Bankers association. He is joint author with Edward A. Woods of the book, "Creating and Conserving Estates," which is devoted to cooperation between banks and life insurance companies.

As head of the Peoples Savings and Trust company, in Pittsburgh, Mr. Robinson initiated an important economic movement in his city, which had to do with conservation of the vast amount of life insurance that is now in force and the great volume that is being written yearly.

GEORGIA BUDGET BODY WILL MEET

Governor Clifford Walker Monday announced he had called a meeting of the budget committee of the legislature to be held at his office at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning.

The committee will go over the reports of all state institutions regarding their financial problems and from these will make recommendations to the next general assembly, it was said.

Governor-elect L. G. Hardman, of Commerce, has been invited to sit with the committee.

Members of the committee consist of Governor Walker, chairman ex-officio; Comptroller General William A. Wright, Attorney General George M. Naper and two members each of the lower house and the senate. The senators are H. P. De La Pierre, of Hoschtown, chairman of the appropriations committee of the senate, and J. C. Collier, chairman of the ways and means committee of the senate. The lower house is represented on the committee by Roy V. Harris and Fernon Barrett.

TEXAS EVANGELIST AT KIRKWOOD CHURCH

Judge Frank Morris, lay evangelist of Dallas, Texas, is conducting a series of revivalist meetings to capacity audiences at the Kirkwood Methodist church. It was announced Monday by L. N. Camp, chairman of the board of stewards.

The meetings, which are held at 7:30 o'clock at night, will be continued through Sunday, April 24. Revival singing is led by J. D. Swagerty. Dr. S. E. Wasson is pastor of the church.

NEGRO BOY, HITCHING ON TRUCK, INJURED

J. C. Bailey, 11, colored boy, was run over and seriously hurt Monday morning by a truck driven by Clarence Cook, also colored, who gave his residence as 31-A South avenue.

According to officers who investigated the case, young Bailey was riding a bicycle towed by the truck, unknown to the driver. At a sudden halt by the truck because of traffic, the boy and the bicycle were thrown under the rear wheels of the automobile.

Charges of reckless driving have been made against Cook.

OPERA TWIN BILL PROVES POPULAR

In presenting a twin bill on Tuesday night of opera week, the Atlanta Music Festival association has climaxed all previous efforts in offering grand opera lovers a special musical feast, according to officers of the association.

Both operas, Gianni Schicchi and L'Amore dei Tre Re are somewhat shorter than the usual presentations and have been chosen for that reason. Those in charge of the repertoire also asserted that these two operas had been selected because, on previous presentations in Atlanta, they had proven high favorites among patrons. Gianni Schicchi is a radical departure from orthodox opera, in that it is highly humorous and contains none of the tragic elements common to the lengthier productions. Although it has the traditional three acts, all are short. De Luca will sing the tenor title role and Louise Hunter, one of Atlanta's favorite stars, will take the soprano part of Lauretta. Others in the cast will be Ina Bourakaya, Armand Tokaty, Angelo, and Grace Anthony and Paolo Ananias.

Rosa Ponselle, who has been acclaimed in her previous appearances here, with Martinelli and Lawrence Tibbett, baritone, will take the principal roles in L'Amore dei Tre Re. Ezio Pinza, the noted basso, will also make part of the cast.

Ticket sales for "double bill" night have been overwhelming, according to those in charge of the box office, and it is expected that Tuesday night will find one of the largest crowds of the week in attendance.

POLITICAL LEADERS ARGUE CALICISM

publicans as well as from members of Smith's own party.

"It is a very excellent paper," said Senator Borah, Idaho, republican.

Senator George Norris, Nebraska, republican said:

"Governor Smith's statement is a vigorous and straightforward declaration of principles which should help many to dispose of the religious issue in the democratic party. I believe it is possible for a man in public office to separate himself from his religious beliefs, and that to some degree Governor Smith has done that, as exemplified by his appointments in New York."

Senator Walsh, Montana, democrat and a Roman Catholic, telegraphed Smith as follows:

"Congratulations on your letter in answer to Marshall. It is perfect and complete. You have rendered no less a service to the nation than to our co-religionists."

Representative Edgar Howard, Nebraska democrat: "While I have not been an advocate of Governor Smith's nomination, I find the reply a forcible and correct statement of the position a loyal American should take in any controversy between his church and his country."

Representative Sol Bloom, New York democrat and a Jew, said: "Only Al Smith or Theodore Roosevelt could have written it. If an election were held tomorrow Al Smith would be elected overwhelmingly. It is one of the greatest sermons ever written."

Senator Curtis, Kansas republican, majority senate leader: "Governor Smith's letter will be classed as a document of great historical importance."

Air Cleared.

Many who discussed the matter privately said the open letter to Smith and his answer had been a salutary episode clearing the air of much underground innuendo and bringing the subject out into the light. Gratification also was expressed that the debate had been conducted upon a high plane in which a serious effort was made to get at the bottom of the issue.

One prominent republican privately said that while he believed Smith had cleared his own position he thought that the church should be heard from. The suggestion was made that some high church authority, preferably the pope himself, should make a public statement saying whether Smith's statement of the position of the church in America is accepted by the Vatican.

Most commentators felt that Smith had made a clear, courageous and well-prepared answer which met the issues raised frankly and fully. Republicans as well as democrats thought it would help Smith among many voters, though some doubted whether it would entirely efface deep religious prejudices rooted in some classes of voters.

Heflin Takes Issue.

Taking issue with Smith's quotations from church authorities, Senator Heflin offered contrary citations including these:

"I admit the pope can absolve Catholics from allegiance to the form of government under which they reside."—Pope Pius XI, in sermon in Philadelphia, April 15, 1901.

"The will of the pope is the supreme law of all lands."—Archbishop John Ireland, St. Paul, Minn.

"All Catholics should exert their power to cause the constitutions of the states to be modeled to the principles of their church."—Pope Leo XIII, November 7, 1890.

"When a Catholic candidate is on the ticket and the opponent is a non-Catholic, let the Catholic candidate have the vote, no matter what he represents."—Catholic Review, July, 1894.

"A priest cannot be forced to give testimony before a secular judge."—Taberna, a papal theological, volume 2, page 288.

"I do not consider that we are doing our duty as American citizens, to ourselves, or to our children in permitting such a system of public schools to exist as we have today."—Professor Dunne of the Jesuit college, Washington, D. C.

RELIGION IS NO BAR, DECLARES DANIELS.

Raleigh, N. C., April 18.—(P)—The best argument that Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, is not influenced by church affiliations in his public service is his record, Joseph Daniels, secretary of the navy under Woodrow Wilson, said here today in commenting on the exchange of letters between the New York governor and Charles C. Marshall, of New York.

"Governor Smith's record as governor of New York is his best argument that he is uninfluenced by church in his public service," said Mr. Daniels. "His statement is in keeping with his record and his attitude toward public questions."

"No man ought to vote for or against a man because of church affiliation," he said.

"The Jeffersonian test, 'Is he fit, is he competent, is he honest?' ought to be the only qualification required in a candidate. In my opinion, no Catholic ought to support Governor Smith because he belongs to his church and no Protestant ought to oppose him because he is a communicant of the Roman Catholic church."

CATHOLICISM LETTER PRAISED BY RITCHIE.

Annapolis, Md., April 18.—(P)—Governor Alfred E. Smith's open letter on the relations between the church and the state was termed "a notable expression of principles of religious freedom, upon which American institutions rest, and to which they are additions or perils," by Governor Ritchie today.

"This principle means," Mr. Ritchie said, "that religion ought never to be a factor in determining a man's right to hold office, or to exercise the state or the highest in the land."

FORMER GOVERNOR HANNETT COMMENDS SMITH LETTER.

Albuquerque, N. M., April 18.—(P)—Former Governor Al Smith's letter on the relations between the church and the state was commended by Governor Hannett today in the letter of Governor Smith concerning the church and state said:

"Governor Smith's answer is frank, good tempered and comprehensive. He neither quibbled nor sidestepped. It is satisfying and convincing."

BURLESON AND GREGORY DECLARE FOR SMITH.

Austin, Tex., April 18.—(P)—Two members of President Wilson's cabinet said today that they declared Governor Al Smith's religious convictions do not stand in the way of his candidacy for the presidency. They were Albert Sidney Burleson, former postmaster general, and Thomas W. Gregory, former attorney general.

Governor Dan Moody, of Texas, asserted his belief that Governor Smith's "attitude on the prohibition question is a greater handicap to him than the religious issue."

United States Senator Earle B. Mayfield declared the platform is the main issue in the presidential situation and said he did not desire to be drawn "into this controversy" concerning the religious phase.

Mr. Burleson, who recently expressed the opinion that Smith could carry the south, saw in the New York executive's declaration concerning the separation of the church and the state "evidence of a man who is not a religious intolerance opposing Smith because of his Roman Catholic connections."

Mr. Gregory said he would rather see a "Catholic democrat in the presidential chair than a Protestant republican." He added that he was a Protestant and a prohibitionist and would not support a candidate opposed to enforcement of the law, "but I fully recognize the right of any man to advocate a change in the law."

NEW CHARTER MAY GET BALLOT PLACE

though there may be "technical discrepancies" council should not stand in the way of an election.

Council authorized employment of an auditor to check the petition registration lists to ascertain if provisions put to prospective jurors by registration lists ten per cent of the registered voters in the election in which it is taken, signed the initiative petition. The check was to be made while the ordinance committee works out the date of the election.

Mr. Russell seconded Mr. Harris' paper, the purpose of which, if adopted, would be a request from council to the democratic committee to place the charter election on the primary ballot. This, too, was referred to the ordinance committee along with Mr. Russell's paper asking for the election on May 17. The committee will work out the most feasible date for the election, and it seemed Monday that May 25—the date of the primary—will be decided on as the time.

MRS. SNYDER MAY NOT APPEAR ON STAND out as obtained by the police under a "mental" third degree. The uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice is not legal evidence.

Thus the state, insofar as Mrs. Snyder is concerned, may be left with nothing but a case of circumstantial evidence. Mrs. Snyder's counsel indicated that they would deny she willingly assisted Gray in the murder but acted because she feared him.

Object to Questions.

Gray's own batteries remained masked during the questioning which disposed of 50 talesmen. His attorneys, William Millard and Samuel L. Miller, rose as often to object to questions put to prospective jurors by Mrs. Snyder's lawyers as they did to the state's—often. But they did not give away any subtle defense they may have up their sleeves.

While the machinery of justice was functioning with the majesty and utter lack of results of a threshing machine in Central park, other observable events were taking place.

In the courtroom sat a striking widow and her recent lover, both of whom shall be duly described.

Outside, skirting a small triangular park, was a crowd of several hundred persons kept at bay by a cordon of police. They amused themselves by consuming hot dogs and lemonade vended from a stand, having their pictures taken by a Coney Island photographer, and staring at the facade of the Queens county courthouse, blissfully unaware that nothing exciting was taking place inside.

Widow Chews Gum.

Inside the courthouse were only the human machinery of law and its emblems. There was no room for anything else because of the special panel of 200 talesmen. 100 had been ordered to report Monday and the other 100 came to keep from missing anything.

In the big courtroom, entered only after running four separate and distinct police outposts, was Supreme Court Justice Townsend Snyder sitting in front of a brown velvet canopy of such imposing majesty that the architect must have borrowed it from Louis XIV. A short distance in front of him sat Mrs. Snyder, slyly easing her nerves with chewing gum, and her co-defendant, the modest brasserie pedlar.

Next were long rows of tables for the working press. There were more than 100 plain reporters and artists present, besides the notables hired to "debunk" or otherwise interpret the day's happenings.

The marchioness of Queensbury was there to make sketches. Her husband, the marquis, accompanied her, a handsome and notable descendant of the composer of the Dempsey-Tunney code of chivalry.

Maurine Watkins, author of the Broadway crime comedy success, "Chicago," was there, looking too young and innocent to ever make such dirty thrusts at Jasper mur-

Alaskan Likes Article On Cow, Chicken, Garden

THE CONSTITUTION READER IN AKIAK REPLIES

BY HERB MCUSKER.

Ten below zero!

Outside the door, a wintry blast sent eddies of snow scurrying before it. Through the frosted window pane the reflection from a roaring log fire cast a crimson glow. Harshly and cheerfully against the emine blanket covering the ground.

Akiak, Alaska, located just two weeks and a holler south of the Aurora Borealis, presented a frigid appearance.

So, rather than brave the bitterness outside, the man, sole occupant of the warm room, filled his favorite pipe, settled back in his comfortable Morris chair and brought forth his copy of The Alaska Constitution, which had arrived only a few hours previously.

Hokum? No, sir! That actually happened—or it could have happened in the event that such weather prevailed in Akiak, Alaska, on that particular night.

In The Constitution early in January appeared an article written by Dr. Scale Harris, head of the Scale Harris clinic, of Birmingham, Ala., and brother of Senator W. J. Harris, in which Dr. Harris, in a friendly, told readers of the great good that might benefit if each farm in this part of the country contained "a milk cow, a chicken yard, a garden, an orchard and a wheat and corn patch."

The voluminous police matron, her attorney was sifting the talesmen through the following questions:

"What is your favorite recreation?" (It might be motor-boating or fishing—those of the late Albert Snyder.)

"Have you read any press reports that this would be a killing or 'burning' jury? That the defendant, Snyder, was pregnant? That she had her husband's insurance increased? That she struck her husband with a sash weight? That she had acted as intermediary for loose women? That she met men for immoral purposes?"

"Could you dismiss from your mind any presupposition of guilt if Mrs. Snyder does not take the stand in her own behalf?"

Duress Intimidated.

"Would you dismiss Mrs. Snyder's alleged confession if duress were proved to a point of reasonable doubt? Either physical or mental duress?"

"Would you follow the court's instructions about the wording in their hands in the indictment, referring to the sash weight?"

"Even though Mrs. Snyder talked over the crime with Gray, but abandoned the idea before commission and so informed Gray, would you receive the court's instructions as to this point?"

At the close of the session with 50 talesmen dismissed, Hazleton declared: "My original contention that a joint trial would cause delay in bringing a jury is being borne out. The trial may last a year."

District Attorney Newcombe scoffed at hints of a change of venue. "This case is going along proper lines," he said. "I expect and hope to get a jury soon."

Ranquet Tonight.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon the convention delegates will be entertained at Georgia Tech with a complimentary luncheon, and during the afternoon will play golf at the Druid Hills, Brownhaven and East Lake clubs.

The annual banquet of the association will be held at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the grill room of the Biltmore, with Mr. Harris as toastmaster. Numbers of prominent persons, including Governor Clifford Walker, Governor-elect L. G. Hardman, Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and James P. Grossett, president of the American Cotton Manufacturers' association, have been invited to attend.

Officers will be elected and the resolutions committee, headed by Hutton Lovejoy, of LaGrange as chairman, will report at the banquet. The Georgia Tech Glee club will give a special program. Ladies are invited to the banquet, and dancing will follow the dinner program, with music by the Tech orchestra.

The association Monday night decided to make a contribution to the Arkwrights, a new organization of southern mill superintendents, and overseers formed for technical research work.

TRAVELERS' POST 'B' GETS 800 MEMBERS

With 800 new members already enlisted in local post "B" Travelers Protective association and 200 yet to be obtained before the goal is reached, members of that body Monday began the home stretch in the drive for 1,000 before the close of the week. The crusade for additional members will end at 12:30 o'clock Friday when final announcements are made at a luncheon meeting of the organization at the Henry Grady hotel.

Seven members of the post Monday had qualified in the century class, having added 100 members each, during the year. This is the greatest number who have added this honor or in the history of the organization and led to predictions Monday that the 1,000 mark will be easily reached.

REVIVAL AT BAPTIST TABERNACLE OPENS

Sinners who go to perdition are not consigned to damnation by God, but go to that punishment as a natural result of spiritual laws. Dr. Will H. Houghton explained to a substantial congregation Monday night at the Baptist Tabernacle.

The sermon, the first week-day address of a two weeks' revival drive, was short and forceful. The day had been marked by an early morning prayer service when the pastor led a group of members in devotional services from 7:15 to 7:45 o'clock. Dr.

Houghton announced that he would lead similar devotionals every morning throughout the campaign.

Dr. Houghton said he would conduct services at 3:30 o'clock every afternoon, beginning Tuesday. From 3:30 to 4 there will be a musical program by the Aida quartet, an organization of women trumpeters, and at 4 o'clock the pastor will give a Bible talk on the First Epistle of John.

The Agoda and Anchor classes, two large organizations of the Tabernacle Sunday school, will attend the Tuesday evening service in a body.

GIRLS' HIGH CLUB TO GIVE OPERETTA SATURDAY NIGHT

Members of the Girls' High School Glee club will present the Japanese operetta, "O Hara San," in the Woman's club auditorium at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and again at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night, it was announced Monday by Miss Mary Moore, assistant principal and business manager of the glee club.

The musical drama is the annual offering of the Girls' High Glee club and will include 50 singers in addition to girls of the School Mandolin club and orchestra who will compose the combined musical background for the operetta. Special dance numbers and musical selections will be featured in the entertainment program.

Miss Ester Bell, music instructor at Girls' High, will direct the two performances and the intensive rehearsing began Monday.

These were authorized on recommendation of Councilman Harry York, chairman of the traffic committee of council.

SIXTEENTH DIVISION ODD FELLOWS MEET

The annual spring convention of the sixteenth division of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will convene with East Atlanta lodge, No. 48, at the lodge hall, corner East Fair street and Flat Shoals road, Thursday night.

The sixteenth division is composed of the 16 subordinate lodges in Atlanta, East Point, Riverside and Sandy Springs. The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock with division Deputy Grand Master J. A. Grady presiding. Aside from the reading of reports from the lodges the meeting will be given over to a general discussion of the membership campaign started March 31 when a large class of candidates were given the degrees at a meeting held in the roof garden of the Ansley hotel. Many questions of importance will come up for action and a large attendance is anticipated. Plans for the meeting of the grand lodge of Georgia in Griffin May 24, 25 and 26 will be announced. Several grand lodge officers will be in attendance and make addresses. Election of officers will be held for the next year.

Montezuma, Ga., April 18.—(Special.)—Revival services opened at the Methodist church Sunday. Rev. H. C. Jones, the pastor, will conduct the services.

Coolidge Backed By G. O. P. Heads Of Two States

Washington, April 18.—(United Press.)—Re-election of President Coolidge was urged today by republican leaders from two more states—Illinois and Maryland.

Representative Madden, Illinois republican, chairman of the house appropriations committee, declared: "What is the use of looking for a presidential candidate if Mr. Coolidge is available? If Mr. Coolidge wants to be president, the people need look no further. He has done the best of any man within my recollection. If the people want business conducted on same, clean, common-sense, courageous and honest lines with a sprinkling of economy, they need look no further."

Madden comes from the home state of Frank O. Lowden, who is regarded as the only possible challenger of Coolidge.

Maryland republicans gave their endorsement through ex-Senator Weller, recently defeated by the democratic senatorial candidate, but still influential in the republican state organization.

DEPOSITION TAKING IN GOODYEAR SUIT IS ADJOURNED

New York, April 18.—(AP)—Deposition

proceedings in the $15,000,000 suit of minority stockholders of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company against Dillon, Read & Co., Clarence Dillon and others, were adjourned today until further notice, after Armin A. Schlesinger, Milwaukee capitalist, had testified for the defense before a notary public.

The actual trial of the case, to determine whether Dillon should be ousted as a holder of management stock of the Goodyear company, and to decide whether he or his firm made illegal profits from the reorganization of May, 1921, is to begin at Akron, Ohio, on May 9 before Judge Scott Kentfield, sitting in equity.

Counsel on both sides said today that there was a possibility of further deposition proceedings in New York if the opening of the trial was delayed.

I used to think of Pluto Water only as a laxative to be used in times of emergency. Following the advice of my doctor, however, I commenced some time ago to take a small quantity each morning in a glass of hot water. Previously I had tried different so-called preventatives of constipation, but none of them gave the continued good results that Pluto Water has given. I cannot recommend it too highly.

P. D. Cramm

For many years I lived constantly in the dread of constipation, exerting the greatest care over my selection of food and worrying considerably about my condition. Some time ago Pluto was recommended to me, and I found it the best corrective I had ever used. Upon the advice of my doctor, I now take a small quantity of Pluto each morning in hot water and find it an unequalled preventative. I am looking and feeling 100% better since following this treatment.

Miss M. M. Rodman

WASH away constipation.

Doctors proclaim the value of this better method.

THIS fact will surely interest you. It relates to a certain widely-used laxative. That laxative is Pluto Water.

Millions of people recognize the value of Pluto's reliable, quick action. Yet few realize just why Pluto performs so efficiently. Doctors, knowing the reason, have prescribed Pluto Water for almost a generation. Here is what they know:

Pluto, being a water laxative, washes the intestines. It does not drug the system. It loosens, cleans and flushes the waste accumulations. Its action is natural and harmless.

"But," you may ask, "if that is true, why will not ordinary drinking water have the same effect?" The answer is clearly understood by medical science. Ordinary water is quickly absorbed, and excreted by the kidneys.

Pluto Water, on the other hand, has a mineral content that exceeds the mineral content of the blood. Hence, Pluto is practically "absorption-proof". It passes intact through the stomach and intestines.

Gently, yet surely and quickly, Pluto Water flushes away the poisonous waste. Stubborn constipation is relieved in 30 minutes to two hours after drinking Pluto. Health is safeguarded. There is not the slightest griping, and no habit-forming tendency. The action is pleasant, prompt and complete.

A small quantity of Pluto Water daily will keep you regular and in tip-top condition. And for emergency use, nothing else is so effective. Sold at all drug counters and at fountains. Bottled at the springs, French Lick, Ind.

SIBERT LUNCHEON PLANS COMPLETE

Savannah will be represented at the luncheon here Wednesday morning. General William Luther Sibert, noted army engineer and directing official of Alabama's state port, commission, was indicated in a telegram from the Savannah Board of Trade by Harry O. Mitchell, district manager of the federal department of commerce.

It was stated that the board of trade had held a special meeting of directors to discuss the revival of the state port project for Georgia when they learned that a meeting was being staged in Atlanta Wednesday of this week for this purpose.

The luncheon will be held in the general assembly hall of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce at 12:30 o'clock. From present indications the hall will be taxed to capacity by those interested in hearing and meeting General Sibert, who won fame as the builder of the great Gatun dam and locks of the Panama canal and as commander of the first division of American troops in France during the world war.

Special tables are being reserved for members of the Atlanta Foreign Trade club, the City club, the American Legion, local engineers and army officials of the fourth army corps area. Henderson Hallman will preside as toastmaster. C. J. Haden, boyhood friend of General Sibert, will present him.

The general is expected to arrive from Mobile early Wednesday morning and will be met by a reception committee. He will go from there to the Capital City club, where he will be entertained by Mr. Haden at breakfast.

GRESS, LIBRARIAN, BACK FROM TRIAL OF SIGNATURE CASE

T. R. Gress, assistant attorney general, and Miss Ruth Blair, Georgia state historian, have returned from Albany, N. Y., where they represented the state last week in its claim to ownership of the Button Gwinnett document before the New York court of appeals.

Counsel for the various interests in the case have until April 28 to file briefs in support of their claims. Mr. Gress said, at which time the court will begin a consideration of the case. The counsel were informed, he said, a decision could be expected within a month.

Left to right is shown Miss Gladys Wells, Miss Marian Miller, teacher of typewriting in Fulton High; Miss Edna Reed and Miss Georgia Oslin. They composed the team that won The Atlanta Constitution cup, donated by Clark Howell, editor, and becomes the permanent property of the school winning it two successive years. The contest was the first of its kind planned in Georgia and was held last Saturday in connection with the convention of the Georgia Education association.

DAYTON BILTMORE SOON TO BE ADDED TO BOWMAN CHAIN

A new and magnificent addition to the famous Bowman Biltmore chain of hotels was announced Monday by officials of the Atlanta Biltmore, the latest of the chain to be the Dayton Biltmore at Dayton, Ohio. This new hostelry, which will have 500 rooms, each beautifully furnished and equipped with bath, will throw its doors open to the public on January 1, 1928. The Dayton Biltmore will open at the same time of the Santa Barbara Biltmore at Santa Barbara, Cal., and the Havana Biltmore at Havana, Cuba.

Both these latter hotels were started in March, John McEntee Bowman, president of the nationally-known chain, pressing a button in Miami which launched the California enterprise, and the president of Cuba turning the first spade of earth on the Havana project.

The Dayton Biltmore will be constructed and equipped along the same lavish lines followed in other Biltmores about the country. A novel feature in connection with the hotel will be a garage with storage room for 100 automobiles.

Bad Check Passer Given Stiff Terms In Superior Court

Additional terms of two to four years on two cases charging passing of worthless checks were imposed Monday in Fulton superior court against E. D. Coleman, alleged "bad check artist," said to have distributed several non-negotiable papers to Atlanta grocery and department stores.

Coleman was convicted recently in Fulton superior court on a similar charge and was given a 12-month sentence on the charge. Several other indictments were pending against him in connection with his activities.

Monday he pleaded guilty to four of the indictments.

Coleman was given sentences of two to four years on two of the indictments, one term to follow the other, and similar sentences on the other two, the sentences to run concurrently with the first.

At the hearing it was brought out that the prisoner had attempted to take his life on two occasions while a prisoner in Fulton tower. He is under sentence of two years in DeKalb county on similar charges.

Scientific Research Reveals Futility of Pyorrhea Panic and Self-Medication for Any Kind of Tooth Troubles, Real or Imaginary. Just Keep Teeth Clean - Clean Teeth Don't Decay, Authorities Agree.

19 in 20 Mouths Are Safe!

LEADING DENTAL AUTHORITIES justify neither pyorrhea panic nor extravagant claims regarding the cause, relief or prevention of tooth decay.

Only 1 in 20 Had Pyorrhea. That's what the Life Extension Institute found after examining nearly 17,000 policy holders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Not a Constant Dread. Dr. John O. McCall of New York University Dental College recently alleged that pyorrhea need not be the fear and horror it has become.

Unfilled Fissures the Real Menace—

The greatest progress that is being made in dentistry today is on the side of prevention—be sure teeth are cleanable, then keep them clean.

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health, for example, has been distributing a circular among school children and their parents, which locally applies the vital, nation-wide dental prevention movement sponsored by Dr. Thaddeus P. Hyatt, Dental

Director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and other authorities. "Prevent tooth decay—fill those fissures," is their significant message.

"Take the child to the dentist when a new tooth appears." If a fissure is found, let the dentist "smooth it out or fill it."

"85% of All Molars Have Fissures." "A fissure is no larger than one bristle of a toothbrush," says the Massachusetts Department of Public Health. "Brushing cannot keep it clean. Food immediately gets in the crack and decay starts."

Clean Teeth Don't Decay. The great constructiveness of this work is easily understood. For authorities unanimously agree that really clean teeth don't decay. Unfilled fissures make perfect tooth-cleaning impossible.

See Your Dentist Regularly and Use DR. LYON'S Daily

All the average mouth needs is periodic dental examinations and regular twice-daily brushing with a good-sized toothbrush of medium stiffness and a safe, reliable, non-medicated dentifrice such as DR. LYON'S. Never resort to self-medication. If you suspect any abnormal condition of your teeth or gums, let your dentist prescribe proper treatment.

Dr. Lyon's Cleans LEGITIMATELY

Sixty years ago, DR. LYON'S was introduced to meet the dental profession's acute need for a safe, reliable dentifrice.

It safely removes fermenting food particles. Safely stimulates the gums. Removes the sticky coating from the teeth without injuring the enamel.

Its ingredients are safely pure, safely fine, safely non-medicated, and scientifically blended to insure the best results.

Stick to DR. LYON'S, and your teeth will stick to you.

The only dentifrice old enough to prove the absolute honesty of its claims—best not because oldest, but oldest because best.

GOVERNOR SMITH'S LETTER.
The letter of Governor Al Smith, published in the Atlantic Monthly, and released by that magazine to the newspapers, will go down in history as one of the most unique and remarkable documents in the annals of American politics.

For the first time in history a potential candidate for the presidency had been publicly challenged to show how he could give undivided allegiance to his country and to the church to which he belongs.

The governor's reply was not only clean-cut and to the point but unanswerable to every right-thinking citizen of this country who believes in the guarantee of religious freedom.

"I recognize no power in the institutions of my church to interfere with the operations of the constitution of the United States or the enforcement of the law of the land," said Governor Smith.

It is unfortunate that the religious question has been injected into the presidential campaign. The federal constitution, which is the organic law of the land, is as definite as the absolute separation of state and church, and as to religious freedom, as the framers of that great document could make it.

Not only is the constitution definite as to religious freedom, but it goes further and especially prescribes that religious faith shall not bar any one from holding public office.

If the fundamental law of this country means anything it means everything. Any citizen, therefore, who would inject any religious issue into the appraisal of one's fitness and qualifications for public office is not only intolerant, but contradicts the tenets of faith upon which our government is founded.

GEORGIA TEXTILE MEETING.
Atlanta extends a cordial welcome to the members of the Georgia Cotton Manufacturers' association now in annual convention at the Biltmore hotel.

The textile industry in Georgia has been developing at a rapid pace in recent years, and large additions have been made or announced since the last annual meeting of the association. The convention brings together a large number of prominent business men.

The Georgia association, along with other textile organizations, including the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York, have been doing a splendid service in promoting new uses for cotton, and in encouraging the more extensive uses of cotton in hosiery and in all wearing apparel.

The Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York is authorized by the statement that nearly half of the stockings manufactured in the United States in 1925 were entirely of cotton.

Analysis by the association of the latest census report on the hosiery industry shows that out of 107,707,336 dozen pairs of stockings manufactured in 1925, 50,402,000 dozen pairs were all cotton.

More than 21,000,000 dozen pairs of half hose, or 54 per cent of the total production of this type, were of cotton and cotton was used in mixture with other fibers or for tops, heels and toes in the manufacture of two-thirds of the remaining output.

Apparently the demand of men for cotton hosiery was more stable than for other fibers. Production of all-silk hose for men declined more than 74 per cent from 1923; all-wool hose fell off more than 36 per cent, while the output of all-cotton hose in 1925 was 5 per cent lower than in 1923.

As for women's stockings more than 48 per cent of the entire production was of all-cotton thread. Cotton also was used with other fibers and for tops, heels and toes in more than two-thirds the rest of women's hose. Total production of women's hose amounted to 59,597,000 dozen pairs, of which 28,633,000 dozen pairs were entirely of cotton.

Although the production of all-cotton hose declined 17 per cent from the output reported in 1923, production of all-silk and all-wool hose fell off 44 per cent and 54 per cent, respectively. These were offset by an increased output of stockings made from mixtures of cotton, rayon, silk and wool.

THE FARMER'S PROBLEM.
The enormous increase in cotton consumption, at home and abroad, coupled with the steadily mounting exports, ought to have a strengthening influence on the market, and no doubt will.

The statistical position of cotton is getting better all the time, and the visible supply on hand, in all establishments, has been reduced to slightly less than 7,000,000 bales of lint.

If farmers will avoid overproduction again this year cotton will go to 20 cents before the marketing of the 1927 crop.

It all depends upon the cotton planter. The problem is squarely up to him.

The carry-over is even now entirely too large to admit of further excesses.

It must be remembered the crop estimate bureau will be working full time this summer, as ever, and that the acreage estimate will soon be out. Future prices depend entirely upon what these guesses will show.

If the first acreage report shows an increase over 1926 down will go prices. If there is a marked decrease up will go the prices.

The problem hinges very largely in the southwest. The southeast—especially Georgia—is doing well in this respect. The biggest trouble is elsewhere.

However, regardless of there being no possibility of acreage control for the belt at large from this one section, every farmer must realize that whatever may be the future prices of cotton—whether high or low—it will be a losing proposition in this part of the country unless the farmer fills first his barns and smokehouses.

NEW ATLANTA PAY ROLLS.
The announcement is made by the Forward Atlanta commission that 44 new industrial and business institutions were brought to Atlanta during the first quarter of 1927 as a result of the 1925-26 campaign of advertising, the new $1,000,000 campaign not yet having begun. The pay rolls of these 44 new concerns will reach a total of $804,150. This is a marvelous record for the first three months of the year and an even greater pro rata record is being made for April.

The fact, as brought out by Chairman Allen, that Atlanta's industries are thoroughly diversified, less than 7 per cent of the population being engaged in any one industry, is one worthy of stress. It illustrates one of the many reasons why Atlanta as a whole is so prosperous. Diversification in industry is essential to general city prosperity. Diversification in agriculture is essential to general rural prosperity.

WELCOME TO GAS MEN.
More than 300 delegates, from every southern state, and from many of the larger cities of the east and middle west, will be in attendance at the convention of the Southern Gas association which opens today at the Atlanta Biltmore.

This association was organized in this city 20 years ago, and this is its first home-coming. It is composed of the officials of commercial gas companies and therefore it brings together some of the leading business men of the country.

The people of Atlanta extend a cordial welcome to the delegates and their ladies and entertain the hope they may have a pleasant visit to this great convention center.

RELIEF IS URGENT.
There should be quick and generous relief for the 25,000 homeless people in the flood areas of the mid-Mississippi valley.

The mightiest flood in history, with the river and tributaries continuing to rise, homes by the thousands being swept away, the suffering is not only widespread but intense.

The Red Cross organization is on the job and doing all in its power to carry relief. There must be generous contributions. The appeal is an urgent one. The necessity for quick action is imperative.

Balloon garters are now in vogue and especially popular with golfers and just the thing for rolled hose. If one has a puncture while wearing them they will have it walk back to a service station.

Nails take, from the white house during the remodeling thereof, are selling three for one dollar, grabbed by tourists as souvenirs, who believe they were used by presidents in clinching their position or to rail opposition to the mass.

The good-will filers are on their last leg, soon to land on bootleg soil.

BITS OF NEW YORK LIFE

BY JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

New York, April 18.—Way back in the olden days, before science got the stranglehold on the imagination it has now, when a New Yorker wanted his past, present and future tried into so much per pry he'd meander across to one of a score of faded, dingy rooms on Sixth avenue where, in an atmosphere rich with the redolence of boiled onions, having crossed Mme. De Blah's palm with silver, would listen as she pawed round among the stars and told him whether he was drifting and to what extent.

Pretty soon, when you want your fortune told, all you will have to do is sit back at ease in the living room, tune the radio to station B-U-N-K and out of the air will come the voice of the seer to tell you to beware of the blonde with the mole on her chin and the sanguinary disposition.

A sample of what we are in for in this sort of thing is being furnished by Mme. Radiora in her three-room and kitchenette staidy apartment in West Forty-third street—"consultation only by appointment."

In my role of Reporter Extraordinary, I visited Mme. Radiora's Suck or Saloon the other day to see if she could get a line on my future.

The consultation room is done in Louis-the-Fourteenth-Street red plush. The wax figure of a woman reposes in the center of the apartment. In front of the wax figure is a small instrument built like a telephone. You pay an attendant 50 cents, stand in front of the machine, place your fingers on a metal disc at the base of the instrument, and, as you adjust a telephone handset over your shell-like ears, Mme. Radiora's musical voice assails you.

"The tall, handsome young man standing before me," said Mme. Radiora, "has had much trouble. His life has been full of trouble; but the trouble is nearly over now. Better days are coming."

Then Mme. Radiora said: "Do you want to ask me a question?" "Yes," said I. "What I'd like to know more than anything else is, will I be presented at court this year?"

"I expected to hear her say: 'Yes,' see an elderly man sitting on a bench and leaning to be saying something to you about 30 days. Instead of that Mme. Radiora said: 'You have been double-crossed by a tall young fellow with slick cheeks and a front as imposing as the new Paramount building. Do you understand me?'"

I said: "No, I fail to understand you."

"Good-bye," said Mme. Radiora. "Good-bye," I said. "Sometimes I said to the attendant, 'Sometimes I said I had gone in for science instead of literary work.'"

But the attendant did not hear me. She was too busy counting up the receipts.

Just in Passing

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON.

One of the most interesting volumes off the presses recently is a study made for the Southern Woman's Educational alliance by O. Latham Hatcher, Ph.D., president of that organization, and formerly associate professor of English at Bryn Mawr college.

Dr. Hatcher was assisted in the study of Margaret Leyburn and Virginia DeMott.

The book, of 500 pages or more, is a practical presentation of information regarding occupations open to women—explaining what they are, the education and training, and the financial returns, etc.

It is therefore a veritable handbook and ought to be in the hands of every woman now engaged in a productive occupation, or who contemplates entering into some helpful and remunerative occupation.

It will provide help that no other volume can, for it is unique in being addressed to the one subject—and one heretofore not treated in a general and a useful way.

The occupational information is presented in 28 chapters representing major fields of work in which women are engaged today, with hundreds of occupations and jobs within those fields.

It deals only with city occupations, the study of several occupations being under way at this time, to which a later volume will be devoted.

In making the studies the author chose the cities of Atlanta and Chicago, and the results of the study of the contributors aided in the preparation of the work.

The survey covers every known field of endeavor, the drama, music, art, the literary field, the newspaper and advertising fields, advertisement writing and space selling, teaching, accounting, banking, library work, various businesses, etc.

Dr. Hatcher in listing the 285 different occupations groups them under eleven chapter heads so that they may be conveniently found. She compares Atlanta with Richmond in each chapter, with frequent brief but pointed interviews with the women who are thus engaged in the various lines of endeavor.

It is difficult, and practically impossible in limited space, to review a book like "Occupation, for Women." It is simply an invaluable work, compiled after three years of research, with the help of scores of women, and it is being loudly and very justly praised by outstanding women leaders of Atlanta like Mrs. Samuel J. Inman, Mrs. Clifford Walker, Mrs. John K. Ottley, Mrs. Charles A. Conklin, Mrs. Albert Thornton, Miss Jessie Muse, Mrs. Blair Foster, and many others.

Many of these Atlanta women are members of the executive board of the Southern Woman's Educational alliance.

The book is not only of great educational usefulness, but it is inspirational, and reflects great credit upon Dr. Hatcher, and all of her coworkers. Its publication is to be earnestly commended as an enterprise of great service to the women of the south.

It is doubtful if such a service in the stimulation of vocational efficiency among women has ever been rendered before.

The Play of Party Strategies Between the Democrats and the Republicans.

Democratic leaders in Washington are seriously concerned about the possible effect of the national election next year upon the party's after standing in the senate.

In each city a great number of when the senate reconvenes the roster will show 48 republicans, 47 democrats, and 1 farmer-laborite—51 in all.

How else can an account for the hard-boiled fact that from 1921 when Harding became president to 1925 when Coolidge took oath for his regular term, the number of individuals making returns of incomes over one hundred dollars per year grew from 21 to 207, or nearly ten fold?

In 1921 there were 271,239 corporations reporting net incomes totaling $4,330,047,312 while in 1925 there were 244,544 such corporations with aggregate net incomes of $9,036,680,163. Corporations, in four years, had increased from 6,136,570 in 1921 to 3,149,946 in 1925.

These figures picked from the government reports seem to support the claim that the rich are getting richer and the poor are getting poorer under present conditions of legislation and industry.

It is clearly up to the democrats to make those conditions plain to the voters of the nation and to propose to them understandable remedies for the better development of the country as the cost of a leopard.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

GO BAREFOOT IN SPITE OF WORMS.
Dear Mr. Brady:
It seems some one is continually taking the joy out of life. You often advise persons to go barefoot in warm weather, so last summer when it warmed up I thought I would try it about the house, and I started a fad of going barefoot in the neighborhood. After the neighbors got over the shock of seeing me in my bare feet they gradually followed suit and before the summer was over almost every woman in our neighborhood was going barefoot in house, yard and garden.

We all enjoyed it and no doubt it was beneficial to our health, aside from the comfort or pleasure we derived from it. But just about the time we were regretting that it was too cold for comfort and longing for the comfort or pleasure we derived from it, you came along and told us that we were able to get ringworm on our toes from walking barefoot where others had done so.

How does that reconcile with your contention that nothing can be absorbed through the skin? Would you advise us to go barefoot again this summer in defiance of the ringworms?

MRS. W. B.
Certainly. And if you can work it without being annoyed by it, I would advise you to leave off a few other superfluous garments this summer—from the health standpoint the less clothing at any time the better, consistent with personal comfort.

If you will re-examine the minutes of our last meeting you will see that there is no conflict in the position of ringworm which can be absorbed through the skin and the assertion that one may get ringworm on the feet by going barefoot where others have walked barefoot.

Ringworm dermatitis is a parasitic infection of the skin even in the presence of ringworm dermatitis, unless scratching excoarates or opens a way through, and even of course anything may be absorbed.

This form of ringworm which affects the skin between the toes and sometimes over the back and sole, is communicated mainly by gymnasium, swimming pools, public baths, where people walk about barefoot. Some of the parasites are left in bits of skin or scales dropped from the feet of the person who brings his ringworm to the gym pool or bath, and picked up by the next person who trods the spot barefoot. There is no evidence that this ringworm infection ever occurs in door yards, gardens or about private houses, unless, of course, a member of the family has the trouble and is careless.

Aside from the delight of going barefoot when the conditions favor it, the exposure of the feet to the air and sun is a real health benefit. People troubled with sweaty or odorous feet, or hot or cold feet should practice going barefoot as much as possible. Going barefoot is the best cure we know. Children should go barefoot much in the summer for the sake of better development of their feet and the prevention of flat feet, weak feet, weak ankles, flat feet. Exercise of even the limited surface of the feet to the direct sunlight helps to feed the body something for which it is usually starving, the ultraviolet energy, vitamins, whatever it may be, in sunlight. Thus, the skin does absorb.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Is there any cure for...? (Mrs. A. M.)
How would you treat a party... (P. H. E.)

Answer—I decline to answer on the ground that it would tend to make you imagine you are sick. This is a personal health service, not a medical clinic nor a quack doctor's game. Unless I am satisfied it will do no harm I do not answer a question at all, here or by mail.

The Childless House.
We have been married six years and we have no children. I dearly love children but I begin to fear we are destined to be childless. Is this usually the fault of the wife? (Mrs. S. A. R.)

Answer.—No. The husband is sterile in at least half of all cases of childlessness, and the husband is the culprit who has contributed the infection responsible for the great majority of cases of one child sterility. Repeat your request and enclose a stamped envelope bearing your address, and I will send you the best advice I can give for guidance.

Please explain whether it is fatal to inject a bubble of air into a vein. (E. A. D.)
Answer.—When considerable air suddenly enters the circulation, it may happen in certain wounds, syncope, fainting, shock, asphyxia and even death may follow from the obstruction of the small blood vessels in the lungs by air bubbles. This is called air embolism. But a French investigator demonstrated by experiment that the accidental or intentional injection of a small amount of air into a vein is not dangerous. D'Abreu found that 24 cubic centimeters of air were necessary to cause death in a 500-pound bull, so a man weighing 150 pounds would probably take two or three ounces of air in a vein before great danger. Physicians always take great pains to avoid injecting even a minute bubble of air when giving hypodermic or intravenous injections.

Monomania.
Is monomania a hereditary condition? (C. McK.)
Answer.—No. Monomania means insanity upon one subject. Many elderly persons have monomania—a tendency toward monomania is rather a mark of senility.

Minor Musings
No job can be any bigger than the man who is in it.

The tired business man often gets by with fighting off all day long the people who wish to sell him something he doesn't want.

The man who grows most about attending to the furnace has a wife who does the attending.

In business, under-hand methods produce big overhead expenses.

Most dignity, little worth.

Those who tell all they know seldom know much.

It is often said: "You can't be all you hear," but most people don't.

The girl who once would have been called "innocent" today would be called "green."

Did you ever know an old man who regretted that he had saved his money?

Friendship generally is less expensive than love.

You Can't Measure a Man's Brains

By Discovering What He Weighs

By Robert Quillen

Nature is prolific of unimportant things. The rabbit has a larger family than the lion, but its progeny never amount to much. Something gets them.

The test of civilization is not the number of people it produces, but the number of worth-while people.

Athens at its best was not a city of first-rate people. It was a city of commonplace people containing a few first-rate men.

Because America is young and therefore easily impressed by loud noises and great bulk, it is the habit of Americans to be proud of the size of their cities. Is it, then, an honor to be one of a great number? Is a herd containing one million idiots more worthy of respect than a group of six idiots?

As evidence of a city's worth, population figures are worth exactly nothing at all. A metropolis that contains one million morose has nothing to boast about; any town that has six intelligent men has reason to be proud.

When I read in public prints boastful articles concerning the number of noses that may be counted within a radius of ten miles, I am astonished that men should have so little sense of value. Is any dog a better dog because of the number of his fleas?

If a town must boast, let it boast intelligently. Let it say: "Our university completed the academic training of three hundred young men this year, and the law of averages. Five hundred volumes have been added to our library, and at least ten of them are worth while. We have planted a thousand trees and hardy perennials. We have torn down six hideous buildings. We have produced an artist, a composer of music, an architect and a philosopher. Two hundred of our citizens, formerly uncivilized, have learned to appreciate music and pictures. Nine of us have learned to think. We have made a little progress in tolerance. We have added to our library, and at least ten of them are worth while. We have outgrown all desire to lynch a man who does not agree with us. We have billions of times larger than the earth; but it is all gas. Putting on weight may indicate growth, or it may indicate an accumulation of worthless fat.

Marriage and the Artistic Temperament

Chicken-Picking Champ

JOE BROWN WINS TITLE WITH 90 BIRDS IN 30 MINUTES

Now Claimed by Atlanta

BY WHITNER CAREY.

Atlanta has been and is the home of many champions in a great variety of sports. Championship baseball players have walked the bases and thrown the ball in the hands of the fans. The city has produced some of its many skyscrapers. Tennis champions have written it after their names in the press. Golf players have gone out to world-wide fame under its name and the prize has been a paid poll tax here. But among the list of championships was one that is up to a short time ago was absent—the chicken-picking title of the South.

But thanks to the feather removing prowess of one Joe Brown, of dusky hue but lightning speed, that title is now resting within our gates.

It all came about in this way. A while back R. L. Warren, who deals in chickens and turkeys, and Robert Bradschaw, who also sells the feathered Brown had its last pin feather removed while his opponent could muster but 54.

The battle was over. Warren won his bet and Joe Brown gained the title as the fastest chicken picker in this section. If there are any who doubt his ability and want to claim his crown a match might be arranged as he is still keeping in training, and will probably take on all comers.

Positive Relief For Itch

First, Don't scratch. Scratching simply irritates and spreads the discerning the reality of speed of their response.

There seemed to be little doubt in chicken dressing circles that Joe Brown, the employee of a local feed store, was good. So good in fact that to meet any local competition he had to give a handicap.

Match Is Arranged.

So enthusiastic was Mr. Warren, however, on Joe's ability that he offered to wager one to two that his prize chickens would be better than the chickens while James Sanford, who carried the banner of the Bradshaw establishment, was doing a like service to 60.

The match was arranged, timekeepers were agreed upon and the place of battle selected.

Came the day of the bout. The rules called for each contestant to take a dozen chickens out of a coop, to kill, seal and pick them. Water was heated to the right temperature. Each contestant was given a boiler full, and the landers were examined to see that they carried no implements and they to await the bell.

From a fathom-like silence the gong spoke amid cheers from the rival rooftop sections and the clamor cry of they're off the two actors sprang into action.

It was followed that which those fortunate enough to be at the ringside describe as the most unique and soul-stirring performance ever staged within the confines of this city.

Pace Fast and Furious.

Chicken after chicken bit the dust and the pace became fast and furious. Joe Brown was picking in superb style, his killing form was so fluid to behold and his endurance seemed tireless.

Both got away from the barrier in perfect fashion and for 10 minutes looked as if there was little to choose between them. True, Joe was going along in better form, but James was showing an untold capacity for speed. But at the end of 20 minutes the backers of Joe breathed a trifle easier, for their entry was moving at a pace which was making the picker as he was powerless to equal.

He was nervous and subject to periods of terrible shyness. He was the wife of a proud mother of a beautiful little daughter and he had an inspiration to his husband. I believe hundreds of other women would be glad to know the secret of my happiness and I will gladly reveal it to you.

CRASH IS BLAMED ON BROKEN RAIL

A broken rail is believed to have been the cause of derailment of four cars of the eastbound Crescent Limited, wreck train of the Southern railway, which resulted in minor injuries to several persons, at 9:45 o'clock Monday morning near West Point, Ga., on the Atlanta and West Point line, according to investigators of the railroad.

John W. Dale, attorney of Houston, Texas, who suffered a broken leg, and Charles E. Slater, master mariner, of Long Island, N. Y., who sustained lacerations of the face, were said to be improving rapidly by officials at the Piedmont sanatorium Monday night, where they were taken following the accident. W. L. Moody, prominent business man, of Galveston, Texas, who was accompanying Mr. Dale on the trip to New York, received minor bruises. He is staying at the Henry Grady hotel awaiting recovery of his companion. Two other persons, shaken up by the mishap, declined to give their names or stay for treatment. With other passengers they were placed in the forward cars of the train that had not been derailed and proceeded on the journey.

The cars thrown off the tracks were the last four coaches, including the diner, two sleepers and the observation car. The observation car tipped to an angle of about 45 degrees after leaving the rails. Following the accident the train proceeded to Atlanta an hour behind schedule time. It was on time again before reaching New York.

The derailed coaches tore up 75 feet of the tracks and it was not until 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon that the track was cleared and in good order.

GREAT CATHEDRAL AT RHEIMS READY FOR REOPENING

(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Rheims, April 18.—Completely restored, as far as the twentieth century can recreate the handiwork of the thirteenth, Rheims Cathedral will be turned over to the Catholic church on Ascension day, May 26, for a solemn high mass, with Cardinal Luçon, one of the greatest of France's wartime prelates, officiating.

Millions of francs from the French treasury and millions in foreign contributions were poured into the restoration of the most exquisite of all Gothic edifices where the kings of France once were crowned—one by Joan of Arc—and whose traceries were ravaged by German shells. Representatives of John D. Rockefeller, who gave $1,000,000 for the cathedral of Versailles, Rheims and Fontainebleau, and the Danish and British committees, which also helped, will be present.

Modern Youth Defended At Welfare Conference

Athens, Ga., April 18.—(Special.) Defense of the youth of today was sounded here today by leading educators, speaking at the third annual religious welfare conference at the University of Georgia.

With parents, ministers and teachers of university students in attendance, the conference for the purpose of relating the home, the church and the university began at War Memorial hall here this afternoon with a meeting of educators.

Dr. J. H. McCain, president of Agnes Scott college; President R. W. Weaver, of Mercer university, and Dean C. M. Woodward, of Emory university, were the speakers. This afternoon Chancellor C. M. Snelling presided. Tonight's session was conducted by the ministers, the speakers being Dr. John A. Davidson, Columbus; Dr. Walter Anthony, Savannah, and Dr. W. E. Davis, Atlanta.

Speakers today praised Chancellor Snelling and his associates at the university for the idea behind the religious welfare conference, the first of which has held three years ago.

Tomorrow is the final day of the conference and among the speakers will be Louis D. Newton, editor of the Christian Index, official Baptist newspaper; Woodstock, New York, who speaks at 12 o'clock at Woodward hall, and others representing the faculty and student body.

Dr. Weaver declared today that in his opinion the youth of today is better than it was 75 or even 25 years ago. He said that the problem of the religious development in one which cannot be solved through any agency. He said that one great deterrent to the student's religious life is the feeling that while he is in college the student has no responsibility to society and therefore no need to restrain influences.

In opening the conference Chancellor Snelling said that the university hopes to make its annual challenge to the student body and the faculty. Dr. McCain asserted that the modern times.

Declaring that the impression that denominational schools are better spiritually than state institutions is a

DISTRICT KIWANIS MEET HERE TODAY

The annual conference of Kiwanis clubs of the northern division of Georgia will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at the Ansley hotel, with E. M. Williams, of Monroe, lieutenant governor, in charge. The division embraces 17 clubs.

Five-minute talks will be delivered by R. S. Thompson, of Madison, on business standards; Lyman Veeber, of Covington, on agriculture; C. C. Dunn, of Cedar town, on public affairs; R. H. PROBATE OF $50,000 DEANS WILL STARTS

Final steps to secure his share in the $50,000 estate of the late Robert E. Deans, wealthy Atlanta broker, were taken Monday by attorneys for Frank E. Deans, Yale student, when hearing in the litigation to probate the Deans will, got under way before Judge G. H. Howard in Fulton superior court.

Young Deans brought a petition to set aside the judgment of probate of ordinary's court against W. O. and Charles Deans, executors of the estate, and won this phase of the legal battle before Judge Thomas H. Jeffries, Fulton county ordinary.

The legitimacy of young Deans having been upheld in ordinary's court, proceedings in superior court now under way constitute a virtual appeal from this decision.

The plaintiff is seeking to show that undue influence was used on the wealthy broker by relatives when the will was made and that Mr. Deans was not mentally capable of making the will at that time.

Frank Deans, former University of Michigan student, was not mentioned in the will of the late broker.

Monday was consumed by attorneys for the plaintiff in introduction of evidence submitted in ordinary's court in the former hearing and affidavits pertaining to the legitimacy of young Deans. The case, which has assembled a large array of legal talent, is expected to consume the entire week in its hearing.

Constitution's Big Offer Of Insurance Concerns You

"Three Hurt as Crack Train Is Wrecked," one headline out of a series of alarming daily warnings that tell you that you can't avoid accidents.

Chances are you ride trains, and if not you certainly ride in automobiles. Then, too, you're a pedestrian, and speeding cars are a constant menace to everyone who walks the streets.

In town or city or country, the ever-mounting accident wave is a peril that hangs over every head. Protect your income against abrupt halt in case you are maimed; safeguard the future of your family in case you are slain.

Insurance! The Constitution offers you the famous $7,500 travel accident policy issued by the North American Accident Insurance company, of Chicago, which already has paid more than $50,000 on claims of Constitution policyholders.

The price is only $1.25 per year, a fraction of a penny a day for protection that would cover you many times more if purchased elsewhere.

The policy provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $7,500 in case of death, resulting from certain specified accidents; heavy sums for permanent injuries, and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the accidents set forth in the policy.

A wreck of trains, a crash of automobiles, the onrushing wheels of a speeding car, a burning building may leave you dead or maimed today.

Don't take chances. Watch for advertisements appearing regularly in this paper which supply full details of the unparalleled protective offer.

This $7,500 travel, $2,000 auto and $1,000 pedestrian accident policy is issued only to subscribers of The Daily and Sunday Constitution and immediate dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 15 and 70 at $1.25 per policy per year. Open to both old and new subscribers.

One who is now taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution, or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs, or through an out-of-town carrier, or dealer, paying for the paper weekly, monthly or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Those taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution by mail, either through a post office or rural route delivery, and all those subscribing through the two-word building contest for one year are eligible by paying $1.25 per year per policy above the subscription price.

In sending application for insurance the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation. If beneficiary is desired, full Christian name must be given and the relation of same to the insured.

Danville, Ky., April 18.—(AP)—Robert Burns, 19 years old, a sophomore at Centre college, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head in the presence of his wife here this afternoon. No reason for the act has been learned.

Burns, the son of William N. Burns, prominent attorney of Niles, Mich., is said to have told his wife, formerly M. S. Neimon, of Louisville, he was going to commit suicide and asked her whether he should do it in her presence or go away. She begged him not to, but he drew a pistol and shot himself in the head.

Miss Neimon and Burns were married at the annual carnival here last June. Burns was a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

Revival services at the West Meritts Avenue Baptist church started Monday night and will be conducted at 7:30 o'clock each night until May 1. It was announced by the Rev. Louis

Pearson, pastor, who will be assisted by the Rev. W. C. Baxley.

At Sunday night services a class of eight students were graduated from the Baptist Young People's Union of Pikeville and L. T. Doyal.

Women and men are amazed at the magic benefits of IRONIZED YEAST. Thin, weak bodies are brought up in weight and strength. Flesh is made round and firm. Hollows filled out. Skin made satiny smooth with the glow of girlhood. How is this done?

New Wonaer-Working Yeast and Iron
Yeast and iron have always been considered two of the greatest body and blood builders. They contain vital food elements that build up solid flesh, correct skin and digestion troubles and enrich the blood. IRONIZED YEAST contains these two ingredients in a new highly concentrated form. Gives you all the weight building benefits of cod liver oil. So it is natural that after taking IRONIZED YEAST in a single course treatment you will notice an amazing improvement in your health, appearance and spirits. The skin loses its sallow, pimply, blotchy look, pounds of good flesh are taken on. So, don't have a skinny, weak body that looks as though it had never been fed enough. Don't go around with an ugly skin. Go to your druggist, today, and get a generous test treatment of IRONIZED YEAST—60 pleasant, tasty tablets in a handy bottle. Safe for everybody; contains no harmful drugs.

Try it on "Money-Back" Offer
Go today to any drug store and get a full size treatment. If, after this generous trial, you are not delighted with effects, ask for your money back. It will be refunded immediately. If inconvenient to buy from druggist, send $1.00 direct to the IRONIZED YEAST CO., ATLANTA, GA., DESK 26-L.

Buick is in a value class

BUICK'S position of leadership is founded on value. Its constant aim is to build each Buick better than the last.

How well this policy was conceived is evidenced by the unprecedented public demand which has given Buick worldwide leadership. The savings that this tremendous volume provides have been used to further enrich quality—by such improvements as the Sealed Chassis, the Torque-Tube-Drive, Mechanical Four-Wheel Brakes, an Engine vibrationless beyond belief, and the increased luxury and refinement Buick offers in its Fisher Bodies.

And today, despite that leadership well won and firmly held, Buick is constantly seeking to improve its design—constantly searching for the new and better thing—constantly striving still further to increase the value on which Buick's leadership is based.

SEDANS $1195 TO $1995

All prices are f.o.b. Flint, Michigan; government tax to be added. Buick delivered prices are lower because the smallest possible handling charge has been established by the Buick factory. The G. M. A. C. financing plan, the most desirable, is also available.

Buick Sedans vary in capacity from five to seven passengers, and have two doors or four. Their Fisher-built bodies are famous for superior coachcraft and distinctive beauty. The model illustrated is the five-passenger sedan, Series 115, $1295, f.o.b. Flint.

Sophy Tancred's Husbands

By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER.

SYNOPSIS.

Sophy and Piers Tancred have lately taken the Villa Mona at Bordighera on the Italian Riviera. Sophy learns that her former husband, Alan Brooke, the sculptor, is in the neighborhood and that they are to meet at dinner that night. She is afraid of her husband's jealousy and that they are to meet at dinner that night. She is afraid of her husband's jealousy and that they are to meet at dinner that night. She is afraid of her husband's jealousy and that they are to meet at dinner that night.

INSTALLMENT VIII.

The light from the vestibule shone full upon Cristina, showing her dressed as for a journey, in her best black with an unbecoming turban perched upon her shapely head, and a little straw case bulging under its straps beside her. A pair of cotton gloves and an umbrella lay on the garden table.

"Hello, what's this?" Alan exclaimed. Through his mind there hurried a possible explanation even before he spoke, but he was wrong. Cristina was not about to pick a quarrel with him because of Sophy Tancred.

With an angry expression which must have belied her feelings, the Italian woman handed him a telegram. He read it through at a glance.

"My poor child!" he cried. "But you are not—" "I must go at once, you see," she said quietly. "There is a train for Genoa at 6 o'clock, and that will be the quickest for me."

"But—" "Maria Fresni will come in to look after you while I am away. I have spoken to her. The house is in order and there is food already cooked. I would have gone by the midnight train, but I wanted to see you first, and there was a good deal to do besides."

She spoke as though she were in truth no more than his servant, and as though this calamity concerned only herself, whereas it most vitally concerned Alan Brooke as well. He ought to go with her.

"But this"—he tapped the telegram—"may be exaggerated. You call everything a plague or a pestilence. I may be only an epidemic of influenza, and if it really is anything more serious there will be plenty of doctors and nurses to look after the people, and you would only add to their worries."

The woman stared at him blankly. "You say that? You think I ought not to go when our little one's life may be in peril? You think that his mother should sit tamely here and wait for more bad news?"

Alan made a gesture of irritation. "Your parents will take good care of Giovanni, my dear. What harm can come to him? Your father's farm is a couple of miles from the village."

"My mother would not waste good money on telegrams for no reason," Cristina replied. "What is two miles when there is so much to come and go?" "Do you wish me to remain here?"

"No, of course not—not if you feel so strongly about it." Alan's feeling of irritation increased, but it was really against himself. He knew that he ought to go with Cristina—let him not forget that she was his wife, and that little Giovanni in plain English was John Brooke, his legally begotten son. He ought to feel as strongly about it as Cristina did. A pang came raging in Piers' brain, but all at the same time Cristina's mother had felt it was necessary to telegraph.

Alan looked at his watch and saw there was nearly an hour before Cristina's train went. The sky was getting lighter now and he experienced that curious renaissance which comes with the dawn to one who has been up all night, a sort of virile wonder that man should ever have found it necessary to waste time in sleep. Below him he could see the dark outlines of the Villa Mona. . . . Sophy down there. He gripped his teeth. Yes, it would be a good thing to get away from Sophy and all that her nearness in conjunction with Piers Tancred suggested to him.

"I am coming with you," he said to the astonished Cristina. "Put some things into a bag for me, will you, while I change my clothes." "But no!" she protested vehemently. "O, it isn't necessary for the two of us. Besides, she bit her lips and an expression of haughtiness gave her features a frozen expression. "What would people think? Maria Fresni is a great gossip and already she has questioned me about Giovanni. What would your fine friends think if you were to go away with me like that?—the Signor Moppet and—and that beautiful English woman who would we you even though you pretended you did not want to see her. What would they think? Answer me that if you can."

Alan took her hands and found them trembling in spite of the frozen smile on her face. "Cristina, my dear, the beautiful Signora knows you are my wife. I told her. And I don't care what anybody else—I mean, I don't care what anybody thinks. Haven't you known me long enough to realize that?"

For a moment it looked as though Cristina wavered a little, but the reserved expression remained and very gently she drew away her hands. "Why did you tell the English Signora we are married?" she asked. "Because she is a very old friend."

"Yet you said you couldn't see her." "I didn't know her as Mrs. Tancred."

"She wasn't married when you knew her?" "She was a little girl when I first knew her," Alan replied. "You were lovers, perhaps?" Cristina asked.

Alan laughed harshly. "Perhaps," he conceded. Quickly and with decision he changed the subject, but already too much had been said which made it plain enough that a great deal more remained unsaid.

Cristina became peculiarly stubborn. She would not permit him to come.

Robinson-Thornwell Wedding Will Take Place This Evening

Something of the pre-lenten gaiety is renewed in the whirl of social affairs planned for the week, today's calendar marking an epoch in social brilliance. Atlanta society will assemble in the name of lovely Miss Jennie Robinson, who will become the bride of Allison Thornwell, the wedding taking place at 8:30 o'clock this evening at the First Presbyterian church on Peachtree street. An elaborate reception at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Robinson, on Ponce de Leon avenue, will follow the ceremony.

Another lovely bride-elect whose wedding will be an outstanding event of the week and who is being extensively entertained prior to her wedding is Miss Douglass Gay Paine. Mrs. Ewell Gay will be hostess at luncheon today in her honor and Mrs. John Knox will compliment her at a bridge tea this afternoon at her home on Peachtree road.

Among the attractive visitors who will be central figures at parties today are Miss Marjorie Lynch, the lovely guest of Miss Angel Allen, and Miss Annie Keeling, of Dallas, Texas, who is visiting Miss Sue Brown Sterne at her home in Ansley Park.

Other interesting affairs scheduled to take place today are the reception to be given at the Forest Hills Golf club by Company L, of the Scabbard and Blade, of Emory university, and the Pan-Hellenic tea which will be held at the Atlanta Athletic club this afternoon.

Yaarab Temple To Give Ball on Wednesday.

All local and visiting Shriners are invited to attend Yaarab Temple's second dance of the season which will be given Wednesday evening at the Druid Hills Golf club at 9 o'clock. A special program has been arranged.

Nobles are requested to dress strictly formal and present the current card at the door.

Miss Robinson and Mr. Thornwell Are Guests of Honor

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox entertained at a buffet supper Monday evening at Woodhaven, their estate on Pace's Ferry road, in compliment to Miss Jennie Robinson, beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Robinson, whose marriage to Edward Allison Thornwell will be brilliantly solemnized Tuesday evening in the First Presbyterian church.

Pink tulips and rose-colored wild azaleas decorated the apartments, while pink and blue hydrangeas were used in artistic arrangement in the palm room. The table in the dining room was overlaid with a Venetian lace cloth, and an alabaster bowl filled with Easter lilies and pink tulips formed the central decoration. Alabaster candlesticks held pink candles and the color motif of pink and white was carried out in the minis and bonbons. An orchestra played a program of appropriate musical selections.

Invited to meet Miss Robinson and Mr. Thornwell were the members of their bridal party, including Misses Alice Smith, Pauline DeGivie, Virginia Campbell, Margaret Nelson, Olive Caldwell, of New York; Mary Sadler, Marie Brown and Laura Maddox, and Harry English Robinson. Jane Kaiser and Kate Butler, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Dana Belser, Harry Sommers, James Robinson, Esmond Bradner, Hugh Carter, Jackson Dick and Frank Jones, of New York; Albert Howell, Jr., Will Kiser, John Grant, Robert Maddox, Harry Atkinson, John K. Ottley, J. B. Colley, Harry Egan, Eugene Black, and Dr. W. S. Elk.

Ragan, Mrs. Brooks Morgan, Mrs. Henry Tompkins, Mrs. Winship Nuttall, Mrs. Ewell Gay, Mrs. Joel Hurt, Jr., Mrs. Sam Slicer and Mrs. Robert Troutman.

DAILY CALENDAR OF SOCIAL EVENTS

The marriage of Miss Jennie Robinson and Edward Allison Thornwell will be a brilliant event of this evening, taking place in the First Presbyterian church on Peachtree road, at 8:30 o'clock, followed by a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Robinson, in Druid Hills.

Mrs. Ewell Gay will entertain at a luncheon in honor of Miss Douglass Paine, a bride-elect.

Mrs. George Dewey Lewis, a recent bride, will be honored at luncheon by Mrs. C. W. Stoddard at her home on Briarcliff road.

Miss Sue Brown Sterne entertains at a tea at her home on Westminster drive in honor of her guest, Miss Annie Keeling, of Dallas, Texas.

Mrs. J. M. Swinnerton and Mrs. W. A. Howell will be joint hostesses at a bridge-tee at the home of Mrs. Swinnerton on Collier road.

Miss Marjorie Lynch, the guest of Miss Angel Allen, will be honored at a bridge-tee at which Mrs. Grady Black will entertain.

Mrs. John Knox will compliment Miss Douglass Paine at a bridge-tee at her home on Peachtree road.

The Pan-Hellenic tea will be given at the Atlanta Athletic club this afternoon.

Company L, of Scabbard and Blade, of Emory university, will give a reception at the Forest Hills Golf club this evening.

Alpha Tau Omega alumni luncheon at the Piedmont at 12:30 o'clock.

Mr. Cammack Honors

Visitors at Tea-Dance.

Mrs. Ned E. Detinet and Miss Margaret Cammack, of New York, were among the lovely visitors at the tea-dance Saturday at the Baltimore hotel, being central figures in the party entertained by their brother, Ben Y. Cammack. Mrs. Detinet and Miss Cammack are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Oldknow at their home in Druid Hills and will be among the most feted of the opera visitors.

Mrs. McNeal Hostess

To Woman's Circle.

Mrs. W. S. McNeal was hostess to circle No. 9 of the Woman's Benevolent and Missionary society of the Second Baptist church on Monday at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon at her new home on Windsor street.

After the devotional and business exercises were over the hostess and her two daughters, Misses Celeste and Maude McNeal, served refreshments.

Luncheon and Tea Are Given For Miss Robinson

Miss Jennie Robinson and her bridal attendants were honored at luncheon on Monday at the Atlanta luncheon by Miss Olive Caldwell, of New York, who is the house guest of Miss Robinson.

The luncheon table, in one of the private dining rooms, was exquisite in every detail. A centerpiece was formed of Easter lilies and pastel shaded flowers and marking the guests' places were dainty hand-painted cards, suggestive of a wedding.

Covers were placed for ten.

Tea at Dogwood Terrace.

"Dogwood Terrace," the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Rainwater, was the scene of an "Early American" tea on Sunday afternoon honoring Miss Robinson and members of her bridal party.

The guests were received in the lovely garden and punch was served in the rocky room from a flower-embroidered bowl, by Mrs. Brooks Morgan.

This rock garden under the trees is one of the loveliest spots of the beautiful home and after a tour of the gardens and grounds the guests were ushered into the Paul Revere clubhouse which is completely furnished throughout in early American style.

In the lovely little dining room the table was overlaid with an attractive cloth of yellow and white checks and in the center was a colorful platoon of spring flowers. The table was set in blue spatterware and the platters and candlesticks were of early American pattern.

Sheep Were Green.

Newark, N. Y.—Passerby saw green sheep on a farm near here recently and thought they were a new breed.

It was learned, however, that the sheep had sought shelter under a haystack during a week of rain and that timothy seed lodged in their warm wet wool had sprouted.

Miss Carr and Mr. Healey Honored at Dinner.

Miss Nancy Carr and William Healey, whose marriage will be an outstanding social event of June were honored at a beautiful informal dinner Sunday by Major and Mrs. Graham Johnson at their home on Annapolis drive. The center of the handsomely appointed table was graced by a blue bowl filled with purple iris and pink tulips and sweet peas. Encircling this were blue candlesticks holding unshaded pink tapers. Pink roses, yellow poppies, sweet peas, hydrangeas and Easter lilies were used throughout the home.

Covers were laid for Miss Carr, Miss Ethel Hunter, Miss Ida Sadler, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howell, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howell, Jr., Mr. Healey, Edward Van Winkle, Charles Boynton and Major and Mrs. Johnson.

Georgia First in Welfare Work, Says New York Writer

BY ROSEMARY STEVENSON.

"Georgia is a marked state on the national map of child welfare work," said Miss Katherine Glover, former Atlanta newspaperwoman, who arrived in the city yesterday from New York for a conference with Mrs. Clifford Walker, national chairman of the preschool activities of the Parent-Teacher association.

"But," smiled Miss Glover, "the mark is a very good one, indeed!" Miss Glover is gathering data for the American Child Health association and will visit many points in Georgia before her return. She is a former editor of Today's magazine and was publicity director in food conservation for the state of New York during the world war. She is a well-known newspaper and magazine writer.

"It has been many years since I visited Georgia," she continued, "and to me the most significant change seems a indefinable sort of birth of social consciousness. In your welfare and other organizations, you all seem to be working together down here, and certainly, you are getting results."

"In child welfare work, Georgia is the first state in the entire south to institute a chair of parenthood in your state university. This is a direct result of the Parent-Teacher movement. Achievement here, however, is 'spotty.' The Ellis Health law, which provides a health officer and nurse under a county unit plan is operating in less than 25 per cent of Georgia counties. The home demonstration work of the department of agriculture is functioning only in counties which have large tax returns and these are few in number.

"But these are things which will come in time. Already Georgia has made outstanding progress in the preschool work and the Healthmobile, giving aid to hundreds of mothers in remote districts, has won recognition for the state all over the country. Georgia is certainly and surely getting away from impulsive growth and in this new social consciousness there is a fine foundation for constructive effort."

Miss Daniel Bride Of Felton Hogan.

A wedding of the Easter season, of interest to Atlanta and Miami, was that of Miss Susie Daniel and Felton Hogan, which was quietly solemnized Saturday evening at the home of Rev. Robert H. Lanikin on Angier avenue. Miss Virginia Haynes was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. W. O. Stewart acted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Hogan will make their home in Atlanta.

Sanson Court of Kamelia Elects Officers.

Emma Sanson Court, of Kamelia, held its last business meeting for the fiscal year last Friday, and reported a profitable year, with increase in membership and interest. Officers elected for the ensuing year were: Worthy president, Mrs. O. B. Blocker; vice president, Mrs. William R. Brooks; secretary, Mrs. W. A. Grubbs; treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Lewis; chaplain, Mrs. B. F. Taylor; conductress, Mrs. C. L. Gray.

Mrs. William R. Brooks was elected as a representative from this court to attend the convention to be held in Kansas City, Mo., April 21-22. Mrs. E. T. Stallings, also a member and past worthy president of Emma Sanson Court, will attend the convention as a representative from the southern division of Kamelia and as a delegate from her court. Mrs. Stallings has served as worthy president of Emma Sanson Court for the past four years and is now national secretary of the order.

Slams Salaams and By Louise Dooly

MR. BABBITT was engaged upon his favorite sport—making the "agle scream."

"America controls the wealth of the world, and pulls the strings by the peoples of the rest of the world must dance. America not only represents the highest development to which civilization has attained, but has cornered the market in it. Europe? Europe is dead." And in his tone you heard an echo of that ancient contempt—"Can anything of good come from Nazareth?"

PERHAPS you are rash enough to argue with Mr. Babbitt in one of these moods. You are very tentative. You put in the form of a mere question your doubt that Europe has actually been obliterated from the civilized map.

Can the old civilization be called obsolete which is still rich enough in creative genius that we, an appreciative people, but on the whole we're not all their best ideas over our art on it?

Do we not still have to rely on Europe, to some extent, at least, for artistic design, in the crafts, for instance? With all our willing promotion of "home talent" in the arts, do we not still have to import our orchestras, conductors, if we would stir our own musical world?

WHAT IS CIVILIZATION? "Oh, music," echoes Mr. Babbitt, and words cannot describe the more or less polite contempt in his tone; you have to know Mr. Babbitt. "Music and crafts. Don't you know we've got all their best ideas over here now, and their best artists?"

"Yes, but that isn't producing them, you are foolish enough to persist. When you say 'producing' you mean giving birth to the creative spirit. But that isn't by any means what 'production' means to Mr. Babbitt."

"Production? Why our craftsmen and designers are actually improving on the ideas we get from the other side. And we've got more painters and sculptors than all of Europe together, and—"

But anyway, before Mr. Babbitt gets through, you will be made to sound like the reddest radical, prepared to stab your country in the back.

And it's all because you and Mr. Babbitt have diametrically opposite views on what civilization actually is.

You find out conclusively before he gets through that civilization to him means material prosperity and its capacity to 'buy anything. On your part, you know that civilization follows prosperity, even grows with and is promoted by prosperity, but that after all, prosperity is civilization's mere footstool.

BELIEVE it or not, but I heard a worshipper of wealth say that the development of industry in America in his eyes was so marvelous that he thought its inspiration must be divine.

It was a mere woman to whom he was extolling industry, and she did not seem, to contradict him. On the contrary, she said she had read a few recognized scientific authorities on the rise of industry in America, and they show that nothing but a tremendous growing natural market and lack of competition pulled industry at the start over the huge waste and incompetence in its management, and gave it its irresistible impetus. Maybe since that was so, there was at least some divine destiny in it all.

Her seemingly hearty agreement did not appear to be altogether satisfying.

SUCCESS RELIGION. THERE are a lot of Babbitts, but there are voices raised occasionally on the other side.

A New Yorker in some public speech of late lamented that Americans are educating their children in the success religion. Youth is encouraged, he said, not to learn; not to emancipate their spirits, but to "get-ahead," honestly if possible, "ut to get ahead."

His warning was that "What doth it profit a man that he gain the whole world and lose his soul"—is an old idea, but shows no signs of wear.

THE CULT OF SMARTNESS. AND Dr. Edwin Mims, a clear observer of things as they are and what they tend to, said recently: "One of the most discouraging things about educated people is that they do not know how to react from one extreme without going to the opposite. The revolt against sentimentalism leads to indifference or sophistication. The revolt against dullness and mediocrity so often leads to the cult of smartness—smartness at any price."

"There is an idea abroad that suppressed emotions or impulses are the ruin of humanity; that there is no virtue in restraint or discipline or staidness. Take the lid off."

But in the end Dr. Mims believes that the victory is not going to be with the forces that are making for pessimism or cynicism or disillusionment or revolution. On the contrary, he has "faith in the outcome of the battle for a genuine idealism and a chastened optimism."

SELF-DISCIPLINE. AND finally, it was a mere mother who proved that optimism like Dr. Mims' is not without foundation. She was the "motherly" type, and she sat at the table next to me in a hotel dining room. Conversation was started by a printed copy on the table of the proverb—"He that ruleth his own spirit is greater than he that taketh a city."

"That has a particular sentiment for me," she said, "because my three sons were practically brought up on the youngest, still in college, wrote recently that when he was asked in one of his classes to state what aphorism had meant most, in his opinion, in the formation of his character, 'I wrote down,' he told me, 'your old war-horse—He that ruleth his own spirit.' I had to it if I would be honest."

Can it be that some families look down upon the go-getting philosophy and the religion of success?

Miss Coleman Weds Mr. Edmond At Beautiful Home Ceremony

Featuring spring in all its loveliest phases was the setting provided for the wedding of Miss Janie Coleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Flovel Woodrow Coleman, to Robert Edmond, which was solemnized Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on West Peachtree street.

Myriads of stately Easter lilies, symbolical of the season, formed the decorations of the home, throughout the lower floor. An altar of palms and ferns interspersed with the graceful lilies was formed at one end of the living room before the fireplace. Tall, seven-branched candelabra holding white cathedral candles interspersed the background of green, while single candlesticks topped the side posts leading from the stairway to the altar. The chandeliers and side lights were festooned with garlands of smilax, forming a delicate tracery against the crystal shades. Tall sheaths of Easter lilies were caught to the aisle posts, which were linked together with tulle streamers.

A profusion of white roses and Easter lilies in graceful arrangement adorned the tables, mantels and consoles throughout the other rooms. Smilax was twined through the stairway and an orchestra placed in the rear of the hall was concealed by a screen of palms and ferns. Punch was served on the inclosed porch from large crystal bowls embedded in mounds of fragrant spring flowers.

Musical Program. Mrs. Eliza Carswell, soloist, sang "All for You," with violin accompaniment, preceding the ceremony, and an orchestra rendered a program of nuptial music while the vows were being taken.

The Rev. J. Spole Lyons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, read the marriage service in the presence of a representative gathering of friends and relatives.

The bride party descended the stairway and entered the living room to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. The bride's sister, Mrs. Thomas E. Wilkinson, of Greensboro, N. C., was her only attendant. She was modestly gowning in a period model of peach-colored taffeta, the bouffant skirt ruffled its entire length in tiny taffeta ruffles. The right fitting bodice was fashioned of velvet and with a beautiful neckline, a bow of peach-colored velvet ribbon fastened at the neckline in the back, the ends falling below the waistline. She carried a lovely bouquet of Ophelia roses showered with orchid sweet peas.

Immediately preceding the bride came the little ringbearer, Thomas Wilkinson, Jr., wearing a white satin suit and carrying the ring on a small white satin pillow.

bouquet of valley lilies, showered with white sweet peas completed the bridal ensemble.

The groom and his best man, Frank Williams, met the bride at the altar. H. M. Holliday and R. S. Holliday acted as ushers.

Receiving with the bride's parents was the groom's mother, Mrs. E. W. Edmond, of Norfolk, Va., and assisting in entertaining the guests were Mrs. J. F. Hornady, Mrs. W. B. McMillan, Mrs. T. T. Quarles, of Spartanburg, S. C., and Mrs. A. A. DeLoach, all aunts of the bride; Miss Ellen Coleman, of Alabama, and Mrs. R. F. Holliday.

Handsome Costumes. Mrs. E. W. Coleman, mother of the bride, received her guests wearing a becoming costume of peach-colored georgette with trimmings of sequins. A shoulder corsage of lavender sweet peas completed her costume.

Mrs. E. W. Edmond, the groom's mother, was handsomely gowning in orchid georgette with a corsage bouquet of valley lilies.

Mrs. J. F. Hornady wore black lace draped over satin and a shoulder bouquet of Parma violets.

Mrs. W. B. McMillan's costume was of periwinkle blue georgette, and her flowers were pink roses.

Mrs. T. T. Quarles was handsomely gowning in beige georgette.

Mrs. A. A. DeLoach wore black georgette fashionably draped.

Miss Ellen Coleman's becoming costume was of orchid crepe.

Mrs. R. F. Holliday was an attractive figure wearing flesh-colored georgette elaborately beaded.

Misses Margaret Logan and Pauline Lewis served punch. Miss Logan wore yellow taffetas and Miss Lewis gowning in green taffetas.

During the evening Mr. Edmond and his bride left for a wedding journey to Norfolk, Va., where they will visit the groom's mother, going later by boat to New York. Upon their return they will take possession of their apartment at 1085 Peachtree street.

Mrs. Edmond traveled in a smart costume combining shades of blue and brown georgette, and a shoulder kasha collar in broadtail completing the ensemble. Her hat was a small becoming French model of ballinuit in the natural shade.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Judge T. W. Coleman, of Annapolis, Md.; Mrs. Robert Edmond, of Norfolk, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Quarles, of Spartanburg, S. C., and Miss Ellen Coleman, of Eutaw, Ala.

Seminary Junior Class Gives Dance For Tallulah Fund

One of the most delightful events among the college set was the scrip-dance given Monday evening at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel by the members of the junior class of Washington seminary for the benefit of the Tallulah Falls memorial fund. A large number of the school and college set of society were present.

The ballroom of the hotel was decorated with blue and gold draperies in effective design from either side of the room and on each of the large colonial columns. At the eastern end of the room behind the orchestra there was a large Washington seminary pennant of blue and gold.

During the evening a program arranged by Misses Linda Jernigan and Hannah Sterne was enjoyed. On the program was an exhibition ballroom dance by Miss Margaret Arnold and Harold Cook, two talented dancers among the college set; a solo dance by Miss Sara Sharpe, well known pupil of the Spiller school, and a musical number by Miss Billy Bennett, who sang "Take This Rose."

The member of the junior class who sold the largest number of tickets and the young lady considered the best dancer by the judges were each presented with a beautiful shoulder corsage.

During the evening candy, chewing gum and cigarettes were sold by the officers of the class, who were attractively dressed in bright colored smocks and tams, selling their goods from large decorated trays. During intermission a delicious buffet supper was served in the grill room of the hotel.

Mrs. Green Warren acted as chairman for the affair and cooperating with her were the officers of the class, who are Miss Leone Walker, president; Miss Jane Tway, vice president; Miss Hannah Sterne, secretary, and Miss Linda Jernigan, treasurer.

Chaperons for the affair were Mr. and Mrs. John K. Ortle, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Stamps, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stamps, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Sterne, Mr. and Mrs. Hobland Judkins, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Royer, Dr. and Mrs. William C. Warren, Dr. and Mrs. Green Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Fisher and Miss Emma Scott.

The guests included a large number of the local college set.

Ballroom, grill room, orchestra and refreshments were obtained through the courtesy of Holland Judkins, manager of the Biltmore hotel.

Christening Service Held For Morrison Twins.

Christening services for the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Morrison were held Easter Sunday at Sacred Heart church with Father M. A. Cotter officiating.

The names of Frances Griffin and Gertrude Thomas were given the little girls for their maternal grandmother and aunt. Mrs. Paul Brooks, of this city, and Mrs. Alfred Thomas, of Washington, D. C.

In the absence of Mrs. Thomas, godmother for her little namesake.

Miss Anna Blake Morrison, paternal aunt, acted as godmother by proxy. Mrs. W. J. Morrison, of Orlando, Fla., paternal grandmother, arrived Thursday and took the vows of godmother for the other little girl.

W. J. Morrison, paternal grandfather, is godfather for the twins, but on account of his inability to be present, Esmond Brady, close friend of the children's parents, assumed the sponsorship in his place.

The ceremony was witnessed by a group of close friends and relatives. Mrs. Morrison, mother of the twins, was formerly Miss Josephine Willford, popular and attractive member of Atlanta and Washington society.

Mr. Morrison is also well known in Atlanta's club and social circles and a former popular star on Georgia Tech's football team.

Women's Old-Time Hygiene

Disappearing—New way discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND Registered Nurse

THE worries and fear of the uncertain hygienic ways of yesterday are rapidly passing. 8 in 10 better class women employ a new way called Kotex.

Kotex discards like tissue. No laundry, no disposal bother.

Being 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton "pads," it permits lightest gowns and frocks without danger. Dance, motor, go about for hours without a moment's doubt.

Deodorizes, too, thus ending all fear of offense. Doctors urge this way.

Many stores have Kotex already wrapped on counters, ready for you to pick up without even asking for it.

Try today and you'll never again risk uncertain old ways. Box of 12 costs only a few cents. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

Barons Score Five Times in Ninth To Beat Crackers, 8-7

Niehoff's Drop Loop Lead in Close Loss

Crackers Get Off to Early Lead—Are Tied in Sixth and Lead Again in Eighth.

BY TOM THOMPSON.

RIGHT when a win would have given them undisputed leadership of the loop, Atlanta's Crackers set some sort of a record for umpire argument while the Birmingham Barons chalked five counters in the final inning to take the first of a three-game series, 8-7, at Spiller's million dollar dell Monday afternoon. The argument series featured Billy Rhiel and Ted Clark, umpire, and either or both can be conceded a victory which must be of the moral variety, whoever gets it. Anyway, the two outfields will match maces again today, and Tiller Pug Cavet is scheduled to twirl for the shipmates of Skipper Niehoff. The contest will begin at 3 o'clock.

After the game, a talk with Umpire Clark showed that he had no idea how much he would fine Rhiel, or if he would really fine any of the other Atlantans, and a half hour after the game's termination he was still pondering the question of to suspend or not to suspend the Dublin Dutchman.

To paraphrase that careful pundit, Jurgin, Mr. Clark may be right, we would not go so far as to say he was wrong, but—

Two Barons' doubles in succession produced the first tally of the tie, in the third. Jourdain plastered one to the left stands and scored when Gansel duplicated. The latter portion of this same canto produced a Cracker runs when Brock doubled, scored on Zoeller's scratch two-lane knock that made a croquet wicket of Jourdain's underpinning, and Zoeller marked the rubber on Cuetto's single down the boy corner line.

Clark probably won the argument by clicking off $10 fines like an automatic change counter in a receiving teller's window on Monday morning, though he regretfully declined an invitation to an ear lambasting party extended by Rhiel. The fans had been hissing Clark since about the fifth inning, and they were all for a necktie party, if their declarations are to be taken literally, but a little timely pacifism on the part of cops and others shielded away the impending tornado.

The Barons again knotted the count in the early stages of the eighth when Jourdain singled past Cuetto, went to second when Gansel was dusted by Tom Rogers, the Gallatin gunner, and came in on Bigelow's bingle.

The latter part of the eighth and the ensuing ninth produced nine runs, five of which went to Birmingham, considerable dissension between the Crackers and Umpire Clark, a probable suspension for Billy Rhiel, and a victory for the Barons.

It all started when Rhiel was given a pass. Haas sacrificed him to the keyhole and Niehoff doubled him in. Schwab landed squarely for three bases and Niehoff scored. The Gallatin gunner pounded one through second for one base, the skipper went to second from whence he scored on Zoeller's single while Rogers' cut to third. A double steal and an error landed Rogers home and Zoeller on third. Both played well off in the double steal formation, and Sheridan, who had supplanted Morrell after Schwab's triple, flung Frankie was off at the start of the fling, as was Rogers, but Cooper had apparently forgotten his man on third and let one fly to Schepner. That worthy made a great effort to garner the throw but it was far too high and Zoeller continued to third. Cuetto filed to Jourdain for first.

Four runs down, the Barons flashed all the old Capstone fight in the ninth and aided by a couple of errors by Cuetto, one of which allowed Baird to reach first and the other allowed him to reach second, they proceeded to take the lead. Gillis got on when Baird was safe at the keyhole on Cuetto's bobble. Yaryan hit for Sheridan and sickened the local sportswriter with a well-placed double that scored both Baird and Gillis. Barnes was passed and Jourdain singled to score Palmer, running for Yaryan. It was showers for the gunner and Fowler.

TRAVELERS TAKE LEAD.

Little Rock, April 18.—Little Rock scored three runs in a sensational ninth inning to defeat New Orleans, 4 to 2, in the opening game of the series here today. Jones' home run in the second gave Little Rock the lead, 1 to 0. Until New Orleans scored three in the eighth. In the last half of the ninth singles by Washburn and Gansel, a base on balls to Grimes and singles by Jones and Alonzo scored three runs for Little Rock.

VOIS DOWN LOOKOUTS.

Chattanooga, April 18.—Nashville opened a three-game series here this afternoon with an 8 to 5 victory over the Lookouts. "Lefty" Fehr, in relief of Kish, who replaced Alton after the score was tied in the seventh, held the Lookouts to a single hit in the last two innings, a costly error combined with wild pitching and scoring by the Vols, won the game with three runs in the eighth. Fehr, with Reddie Lewis on base, drove out a homer to tie the score in the seventh.

HAWK-EYEING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

New Guessing Game.

The 4,000 pop-eyed fans who turned the money machine at Spiller's park Monday not only saw a baseball game of the hair-raising variety, which was won by the Crimson Tide of Birmingham by a score of 8 to 7, but they were interested listeners to the greatest piece of umpire-player dialogue every dialogued.

The merits or demerits of Mr. Ted Clark's umpiring do not enter in this issue (officially), though we will have to admit that on several occasions we looked three times and saw a horrible ball while the said Mr. Clark looked but once (perhaps) and saw a strike. That may be due, of course, to our defective eyesight, and is beside the issue at hand.

What we heard was something like this:

Mr. Clark—"Strike."

Mr. Cuetto—"You're a pig, Aloha Oe."

Mr. Clark—"Farewell yourself and $10 to boot."

Mr. Cuetto—"It's worth it and just to get my money's worth, you're a diablo."

Mr. Niehoff (Hobbling in from second base)—Ditto Mr. Clark.

Mr. Clark—"And ditto to you, Mr. Niehoff, but we'll make it $20."

Mr. Clark—"Strike."

Mr. Rhiel—"All that the rest of them said wasn't half enough and I submit the following—'s just to swell the total."

Mr. Clark—"Your language is very ungentlemanly, Mr. Rhiel. In fact it cost you several dollars to add those—'s."

The Fans—"Robber, Bum, Thief, Hoodlum, Egg, Snake, Armadillo, Thug, Blind Man, etc., etc."

Mr. Clark—"Silence."

THE END.

(EPILOGUE)—(AFTER THE GAME.)

Sports writers' chorus—"Well Mr. Clark, it was a hard game."

Mr. Clark—"Still trembling? 'Yeah."

S. W. C.—"Did you fine Rhiel?"

Mr. C.—"Well I guess so."

S. W. C.—"How much?"

Mr. C.—"Well, I'm not sure yet."

S. W. C.—"Do you recommend his suspension?"

Mr. C.—"Well, I'm not sure yet."

S. W. C.—"Did you fine anybody else?"

Mr. C.—"Well, I'm not sure yet."

And so on in this vein until far into the evening when the S. W. C. left the arbiters' dressing room with the following impressions:

1. At least 24 ball players were so ungentlemanly as to swear at Mr. Clark.

2. Mr. Clark didn't like being sworn at. No, sirree.

3. Somebody may be suspended and somebody may be fined or both but nobody (including the finer or suspender as the case may be) is sure of that.

4. In short, the impression gathered by the S. W. C. in toto amounted to a large question as to whether Mr. Clark was positively sure of anything, including his being upon this planet.

A Free Supper.

To the members of the Atlanta Athletic club who have been signing away small fortunes on dining room checks, drink checks, etc., since the opening of the new town house on Carnegie Way comes the news of the first annual meeting of the membership to be held in the new building.

The meeting will be held tonight at 8 o'clock but that is not the interesting part. THE BUFFET SUPER WILL BE FREE.

There will be reports of committees and spreading of news regarding the new club house, the golf course and other things of interest but even if you are one of these birds who doesn't care about the work of the club don't forget the free feed.

John Chapman Leads Pinehurst Golfers

Pinehurst, N. C., April 18.—(AP)—John D. Chapman, of Greenfield, Conn., today won the 18-hole qualifying round of the 18-hole golf tournament here with a score of 71 against a field of 66 competitors. Erle Thompson, of St. John's N. B., was second with 70 and Edwin L. Seefeldt, of New York, third, with 80.

Chapman had one bad hole, the fifth, at which he took a six but he made up for it by shooting the second nine in par for a 41-36-77. Thompson lost a stroke at the ninth as a result of hitting a caddy in a two-hole ahead with his shot to the green. The ball glanced off a bag carried by the boy and rolled into a trap. He recovered from the pit, however, for a five but went badly on the final four holes after sinking a birdie on the fourteenth.

New York, April 18.—(AP)—Jess Petty, star southpaw of the Brooklyn Robins, is in the Skene sanatorium here suffering from a sudden attack of appendicitis and will be obliged to undergo an operation, Fred Hanlow, secretary of the club, said today.

Petty, considered the best hurler on the Dodger staff, pitched and won the opening game against the Boston Braves but was defeated by Philadelphia Saturday. Following the game he complained of pains in his side and failed to accompany the team when it left Brooklyn this morning for Philadelphia.

Hanlow said the operation, when performed, will incapacitate the star for at least two months.

Southern Women's Golf Tournament on May 3

Laurel, Miss., Will Be Scene of Annual Battle For 1927 Championship.

BY WHITNER CARY.

Westward the course of many a southern golf star will shortly wend its way. This partial paraphrasing of a celebrated thought by a celebrated man means that in early date (May 3 to be exact), the fairways and putting greens of the Laurel Country club, of Laurel, Miss., will be the scene of the opening day's play in the 1927 southern women's golf championship. On that date will gather the best feminine golfers of Dixie with the main object in view of snatching the championship crown from the brow of Miss Marion Turpie, the youthful New Orleans girl who has sat on the throne for the past 12 months.

Whether the attempted snatching process will be successful remains for the irons, woods and putters of those laddy souls

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

THE SIEGE OF LEXINGTON, MISSOURI, BY THE CONFEDERATES BEGAN ON SEPTEMBER 12, 1861, AND LASTED UNTIL THE 20TH. AFTER A FIERCE BOMBARDMENT ON THE FIRST DAY OF THE SIEGE WHICH DROVE THE FEDERALS FROM THE OUTER BREASTWORKS THE CONFEDERATES SETTLED DOWN TO STARVING OUT THE GARRISON.

AS THE SIEGE PROGRESSED THERE WAS MUCH SUFFERING AMONG THE DEFENDERS. FOOD AND AMMUNITION BEGAN TO RUN LOW AND THERE WAS A DISTRESSING LACK OF WATER. AND SO IT WENT ON, BOTH SIDES EQUALLY DETERMINED TO WIN.

ON THE 17TH, CONFEDERATE BATTERIES OPENED FIRE ON THE UNION WORKS AND A STEADY BOMBARDMENT WAS KEPT UP. BY THE 20TH THE SOUTHERN LINES HAD NEARLY REACHED THE LAST FEDERAL DEFENSES AND GEN. PRICE PREPARED TO CARRY THE PLACE BY STORM.

IN THE AFTERNOON OF SEPT. 20, COL. MULLIGAN, REALIZING THAT FURTHER RESISTANCE WAS IMPOSSIBLE, RAISED THE WHITE FLAG AND SURRENDERED TO GEN. PRICE. THE CONFEDERATES CAPTURED 2,224 PRISONERS, THE MISSOURI STATE RECORDS AND SEALS AND $900,000 IN MONEY.

10,000 Pupils To Hold Pageant at Lakewood

Coincident with announcement by officials of the Southeastern Fair association Monday that Lakewood park will be the scene May 13-14 of a huge rodeo show, Jere Wells, superintendent of Fulton county schools, stated that about 10,000 pupils will participate in a gigantic field day and pageant Friday at the recreation center.

Every school in the entire system, 35 in all, will send track teams, basketball and baseball teams into the field to uphold the honors of their respective institutions in the biggest county-wide field event ever staged in the state. Principals of schools have been grooming their teams for the past several months and many prizes will be awarded.

A feature of the rodeo event will be a contest for the world's championship in which $10,000 will be distributed in prizes, it was announced Monday by Jack Ault and "Chick" Hannan, promoters. The latter is the world's champion steer "bull-dogger" at present, but will stake his title in the contests to be staged at Lakewood during the show. He has thrown six steers in 72 seconds.

The wild west will be transplanted to the park under arrangements, and Atlanta will be given first-hand demonstrations of "burning" wild broncos, while rope experts perform. Among the prominent cowboys who will take part in the rodeo are John Henry, Little Rock, Ark.; Bert Sibert, Locust, Idaho; Jim Lynch, Bossman, Mont.; Tony Ayres, Bellevue, S. D.; Roy Quick, Fort Worth, Texas; Pinky Gest, Miles City, Mont.; Buff Brady, Deer Lodge, Mont.

An Exclusive Optical Store

After your oculist has scientifically examined your eyes for glasses you should be as careful in the selection of your glasses as you were in the selection of your oculist. There are many patients sadly disappointed in their glasses and lay all the blame on their oculist, when in many cases the fault is in the material and workmanship furnished by the oculist. It requires just as much knowledge and skill to make a pair of glasses correctly as it does to make a correct examination of the eye. Ask your oculist about us and our reliability if you do not already know.

MORAL: Have your prescription for glasses filled at Ballard's, a reliable exclusive optical store. No side lines.

Glady's May Lilly, Accident Victim, Is Laid to Rest

Funeral services for Glady's May Lilly, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lilly, 62 1057 Gordon road, who was killed almost instantly Saturday night when knocked down by an automobile, were held Monday afternoon at the Sharon Baptist church. The Rev. R. W. Aycock officiated. Interment was made in the West View cemetery.

Heatley is being held in Fulton county jail on a charge of murder. He was arrested by County Police Lieutenant J. M. Carroll after he is said to have wrecked his automobile in the Mayson and Turner road.

He was a resident of Decatur for many years and was one of its outstanding citizens. He was also prominently connected with civic affairs and operated an automobile agency. He also was interested in development of commercial aviation.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two children, E. F. Tuggle, Jr., and Marian Tuggle; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Tuggle, of Bowden, Ga.; his sister, Mrs. M. Tuggle, of Carrollton, Ga.; and five brothers, C. M. Tuggle, of Decatur; W. H. Tuggle, of Tuggle, Ga.; J. T. Tuggle, of Orleans; and J. B. Tuggle, of Aniston, Ala.

Funeral services for the Rev. T. J. Head, 83, elder of the Primitive Baptist church and civil war veteran, who died Sunday at the residence, 1047 Gordon street, S. W., were held Monday afternoon from the residence. Elder Zack Hull officiated, and interment was in the old family cemetery at Griffin, Ga.

Besides his wife, Mr. Head is survived by six sons, Dr. J. M. Head, of Houston, Texas; W. B. Head, of Wilmington, N. C.; George Head, of LaGrange, Ga.; Robert F. Head, of Henry, Ga.; and Francis Head, of Atlanta; four daughters, Mrs. F. B. Davenport, Mrs. Mary Head, Miss Rebecca Head and Miss Lillian Head, all of Atlanta; one sister, Miss Hattie Head, of Griffin; and a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Funeral services for M. L. Johnson, one of the best-known telegraph operators in the southern states, who died Monday morning at his home in Clarkston, Ga., following an illness of several months' duration, will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence, The Rev. Father Emmett Walsh will officiate. Interment will be in Clarkston cemetery.

Palbearers will be: Bob Chaffin, J. R. Fulwiler, Ed L. Sutton, James H. Griffin, Tom Jolly, J. Richard Linton, James F. Kelley and J. P. Hall. Sam R. Greenberg & Co., in charge.

"Mike" Johnson, as he was known throughout the southern states, had been connected with the Western Union Telegraph company for more than 20 years and was said to be one of the most efficient operators in the country.

Johnson attended most of the baseball games at Spiller field for years and when the present season opened he expressed regret at being unable to attend.

Mr. Johnson is survived by his wife; two sons, M. L., Jr., and Carroll Johnson; a daughter, Eleanor Johnson; a brother, Philip Johnson, and his mother, Mrs. F. P. Johnson.

He is Joseph Lyles, formerly waterworks chemist of Birmingham, Ala., but his new job has nothing to do with water. He is on a fee basis and will not consider anything with less than a kick of one-half of one per cent.

It will be his duty to analyze all beer and other liquor seized under the prohibition law and give scientific testimony.
